HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

FREE RAILROAD LAW.

Mr. THORN, of Philadelphia, gave notice that he should in future move the reconsideration of the vote of the House on Tuesday, in recommiting the Free Railroad bill to the Conference Committee with instructions against the Senate amendment. He explained that he done this to keep the bill in the House.

Subsequently Mr. FORD, of Allegheny, moved to reconsider the vote of the House on this subject, and explained that he did so in view of Mr. Thorn's notice to the House, for the purpose of preventing any delay which the opponents of the House bill desired. He hoped the House would act at once, and vote down his own motion to prevent another motion to reconsider at some distant day, when the matter could not be satisfactorily reached.

Mr. Ford's motion to reconsider was voted down, Mr. Ford and all the friends of free railroad voting nay. The matter, therefore, cannot be reconsidered and the resolution was messaged to the Senate.

Afterwards the Clerk of the Senate announced that the Senate had refused to concur.

SENATE.

PETITIONS FROM SOUTHERN CONVENTIONS.

The Chairman submitted a petition from the South Carolina Convention for the repeal of duty on rice. Also, a communication from the Georgia Convention asking for an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars, to be used for repairs on and the construction of certain roads. Both referred.

SECRET SESSION PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. EDMUNDS offered an order providing that the minutes of the proceedings of the secret session during the trial of impeachment be furnished to the reporters.

Objection being made it went over.

CURRENCY BILL.

Mr. CATTELL, from the Committee on Finance, reported the bill amendatory of the currency act of June 3d, 1864.

It provides that it shall be unlawful for National Banks located in the cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, or any of the cities named in section thirty-one of said act, to pay interest on the balance of any other National Banks, or offer any inducement, other than the prompt and correct transaction of business, in order to secure such deposit, under penalty of having their affairs wound up by the Comptroller of the Currency, according to the provisions of section fifty of the act above mentioned.

It further provides that every National Bank selected as a depository of public monies shall deposit United States bonds with the Treasurer of the United States as security for such deposits, and whenever the public money, so deposited, shall exceed ninety per centum of the par value of that held by the Treasurer as security, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to reduce the amount of said deposits to a sum not exceeding ninety per centum of the bonds. The offering or receiving of money or valuable considerations of any kind, as an inducement to obtain or to be allowed to retain deposits of public money, is to be punished by a fine of not less than one thousand dollars or imprisonment of not less than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

TAX ON MANUFACTUREES.

Mr. SHERMAN, from the Committee on Finance, reported the House bill to exempt certain manufactures from Internal Revenue tax, with an amendment retaining the tax on turpentine, coffee, (roasted or grund,) and all articles intended as substitutes for coffee or spices, mustard, refined sugars, and on products of sugar refiners, on sugar candy and confectionary, on almonds, emeralds, precious stones and imitations, and on all jewelry. The bill leaves the tax on lucifer or friction matches, and all other stamp duties unchanged.

Mr. CATTELL gave notice that he would call it up to-morrow.

SURVEY OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

Mr. FOWLER introduced a bill to provide for the survey of the Mississippi river. Referred to the Committee on Territories.

It requires the chief engineer of the army to have made a complete survey of the Mississippi river from Cape Girardeau, exemplifying all its topographical features on either bank, within such limits as may be necessary to determine a proper location of levees, and that he shall decide lines for permanent levees in the following districts, namely: On the east side—first, from the mouth of the Ohio to Memphis, and all such portions of Kentucky and Tennessee as may require levees; second, from Memphis to mouth of Yazoo river; third from Vicksburg to New Orleans, and such portions as may require levees; fourth, from New Orleans as far towards the mouth as lands to be reclaimed from overflow will justify the extension of a levee. On the west side—first, from Cape Girardeau to the mouth of St. Francis River; second, from Helena to the mouth of White river; third, from Napoleon to the mouth of the Rio River; fourth, thence as far down as will justify the extension of the levee. The Chief Engineer is authorized to employ such engineers and laborers and use such appliances as may be necessary for the work, to defrao the expenses of which there is appropriated two hundred thousand dollars. He is required to report as soon as practicable his estimates of the cost of levees located on lines of permanent security, of such dimension as will render them secure against the greatest flood, together with the area of land that will be reclaimed from overflow in each district by the construction of such levees. The bill also provides for the completion of the hydropathic and hydrometric survey of the Mississippi from Cape Girardeau to the Gulf, and appropriates for the present expenses of that work fifty thousand dollars.

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

On motion of Mr. HOWARD, the Senate took up the bill relating to the Central Branch of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Mr. JOHNSON advocated the bill at length.

Mr. MORRILL, of Vermont, offered a verbal amendment, the effect of which would be to provide that no subsidy of United States bonds shall be allowed this branch, beyond the allowance on the hundred miles for which bonds are already authorized to be issued.

Mr. MORRILL, of Maine, moved to postpone the bill for the purpose of taking up the postoffice appropriation bill, which was not agreed to—twenty-one to twenty-five.

Mr. CONKLING spoke at length against the bill.

Messrs. POMEROY and HOWARD replied to Mr. Conkling, and after further discussion by Mr. Edmunds and others the Senate went into Executive Session and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Under the call of States bills were introduced and read as follows:

Refunding the amount paid by private subscription towards the improvement of the harbor of Michigan City.

Establishing a District Court at Parkersburg.

Providing that officers of the army, including the vetern reserve corps, be entitled to be retired, under the same conditions as officers wounded in the regular army.

To promote American commerce by enacting that tonnage be collected on vessels from foreign ports, allowing drawbacks on ship builders, material and repealing the first section of the act of July 14th, 1867.

For the collection of revenue upon the northern, northeastern and northwestern frontiers.

Mr. BAINE presented a memorial of the Wisconsin Legislature for the reimbursement of Milwaukee for certain expenditures on her harbor.

Mr. GARFIELD presented a petition of one hundred and nine German citizens of Cleveland, asking that the Constitution be so amended as to abolish the office of President of the United States. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. ROSS offered a preamble and sixteen resolutions, reciting that the Fortieth Congress has been charged with disloyalty to the Government and with a purpose to subvert and destroy the essential principles and just balances on which it rests, and declaring that the Constitution is the supreme paramount law of the land; that Congress will faithfully abide by and strenuously maintain the essential and fundamental principles of free government; that Congress will oppose all efforts to render the military independent and superior to the civil power; that it will oppose all efforts to deprive the people of the right of habeas corpus and trial by jury, that it will oppose the encroachment of one department of the Government on another; that free speech, free press and free ballot are essential to liberty and cannot be surrendered; that Congress is opposed to a large standing army; that the peculation and frauds in the Treasury should be stopped; that each State shall regulate suffrage within its own limits; that no Government bonds shall be issued not subject to the same rate of taxation as other property; that National Bank Notes shall be withdrawn and legal tender notes substituted.

The House refused to second the previous question, which was moved by Mr. ROSS, who then moved to lay the resolutions on the table and called for the yeas and nays, remarking that he did so in order that members might put themselves on record.

The House refused—yeas eight, nays one hundred and thirty-three—to table the resolutions, and on motion of Mr. ASHLEY, of Ohio, they were referred to the Judiciary Committee.

LANDS TO IOWA.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, offered a preamble and resolution in reference to land granted the State of Iowa for railroad purposes, by act of May 15th, 1856, directing the Secretary of the Inferior to inform the House by what authority the land had been certified and confirmed under such grant, in violation of the act requiring a certain branch to be built. Adopted.

RESTORATION ON LEGAL TENDERS.

Mr. INGERSOLL offered a resolution providing that, for the purpose of relieving the business of the country from the depressed condition to which it has been brought by the retiring of legal tender notes from the volume of currency by the Secretary of the Treasury, an amount of legal tender notes equal to the amount heretofore retired shall be issued and restored to the currency, and that the amount of legal tender notes so restored shall be used only in purchasing for cancellation any of the gold interest bearing bonds.

He moved the previous question.

Mr. BLAINE hoped the previous question would be refused and the resolution referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. INGERSOLL hoped the previous question would be seconded and the House vote yes or no on the resolution.

The previous question was not seconded—forty-nine to seventy-three—and then, on motion of Mr. BLAINE, the resolution was referred—ayes ninety, nays fifty-eight—to the Committee of Ways and Means.

RELIEF OF MRS. GEN. ANDERSON.

The morning hour having expired the House resumed the consideration of the report on the bill appropriating $15,000 for the benefit of Mrs. Gen. Anderson, and after several votes on various points agreed thereto—yeas 77; nays 62.

SUSPENSION OF RULES—IMPEACHMENT.

Mr. BUTLER moved to suspend the rules so as to enable him to submit a motion that during the trial of impeachment of the President, and until its conclusion, it shall be in order on any day to move a suspension of the rules on a motion connected with or growing out of the question of impeachment. Agreed to. Yeas 108; nays 37.

The rules having been suspended, Mr. BUTLER offered the following resolution;

That except during the morning hour of Monday, rules may be suspended during the pending of the impeachment of the President to proceed to the consideration of any matter which may be reported by the Managers on the part of the House of Representatives.

Mr. WOOD made the point of order that it was not the resolution which had suspended the rules in order to have it offered. The first motion had been restricted to the matter connected with impeachment, but the resolution contained no such restriction.

The SPEAKER sustained the point of order.

Mr. BUTLER then offered a second resolution as an amendment to the first.

Mr. ROSS moved to lay the resolution and amendment on the table. Negatived—yeas thirty-one, nays one hundred and eleven.

The amendment was then agreed to and the resolution as amended was adopted—yeas one hundred and three, nays thirty-three.

RELIEF OF EX-REBELS.

Mr. BINGHAM, from the Committee on Reconstruction, reported back the bill for the relief of certain persons from disabilities imposed upon them, and either of them, by the laws of the United States. The names of the persons so to be relieved are as follows: Wm. W. Holden, Wm. W. Smith, Calvin K. Cowles, Thomas Settle, Rufus Barringer, Luke Blackmore, of North Carolina; James L. Alcorn, Benj. B. Neighbors, of Mississippi; Robert W. Flournoy, Joshua Morris, James R. Berry, Arkansas; James Longstreet, Louisiana; Robert B. Kingsberry, Texas; Thomas J. Mackey, James L. Orr, South Carolina; Joseph E. Brown, Georgia.

Mr. COVODE moved to amend by adding the name of John A. Gillmer, of North Carolina, giving as a reason therefor that Mr. Gillmer had opposed the Lecompton swindle, and had only become a member of the Confederate Congress so as to be able to embrace the first opportunity to embarrass it and throw his weight against the rebellion.

A motion was made to add the name of W. B. Richardson and Wm. Randon, of North Carolina.

Mr. ELDRIDGE suggested the name of Gov. Worth.

Mr. SPALDING moved to table the bill—negatived, fifty against ninety.

After a lengthy debate, during which it appeared the bill simply relieved disabilities relative to registration and suffrage, the House, without action on the bill, adjourned.

Topics and Gossip at the Capital.

IMPEACHMENT TRIAL.

Certain Republican Senators are very anxious that the President should have a fair trial, and that this fact should be so so plain that partizan malice cannot misrepresent it. Messrs. Fessenden, Trumbull, Anthony and others, who voted to give the President the longest time proposed by any Senator, did it on this ground. The indications are clear that the trial will take many weeks. Senators are making up their minds that it may last till June. The most sanguine are not hopeful of a speedy trial. The Butler article will incalculably prolong it. It is rumored that there was a very excited debate in the secret session, and that there is some feeling against two or three Senators who undertook to ascribe motives to their colleagues.

THE FUNDING BILL.

Sherman's funding bill has a poor chance in the Senate. A decided majority are in favor of a new long bond at a lower rate of interest, but it is impossible to agree upon the exact rate. Western Senators demand four per cent. as the rate, and Senators from the Middle and Eastern States insist upon five.

MORE BANKS.

Congress will eventually agree to a bill granting more banks to the south and west. The exact amount of additional bank notes is yet uncertain, but it is considered probable that it will not exceed $50,00,0000. It is growing more probable each day that Congress will not authorize the issue of more legal tenders. A very distinct intimation has come from a member of the Supreme Court that there is danger that it would declare such an issue in time of peace to be unconstitutional. The Pendleton Democrats here, who have heard the rumor, do not speak so reverently of the Court as they have recently been in the habit of doing in connection with the reconstruction acts.

MOSBY'S GUERRILLAS.

The New York Herald's Washington special of Sunday says: It is understood that the expected attack from the Virginia shore has, within the past few days, taken a more substantial form than was at first anticipated. It is known that an order has just been issued in the War Department, directing forty army wagons, with teams and teamsters, to be kept in readiness to move at a moment's notice for the transportation of supples. Private orders have also been issued to the commanders of garrisons about them to keep their commands, both officers and men, in quarters.

HEALTH OF THADDEUS STEVENS.

Since the excitement of Friday last the health of Thaddeus Stevens has taken a more serious evidence of decline than at any other time during this Congress, and it is thought by those more intimately acquainted with every phase of his failing condition, that it is very doubtful if he will again be able to leave his room. Mr. Stevens has a negro servant towards whom he has always been particularly kind, and every morning, upon entering his room, Mr. Stevens calls the servant by name. Monday his servant entered the room as usual, when Mr. Stevens was observed to look at him, but apparently failed to recognize him. This indication of so great a change was observed by several of Mr. Stevens' household, who were in the room at the time. Several members of Congress who called on business of an important nature, were requested not to insist upon seeing Mr. Stevens. The greatest fears are now entertained that Mr. Stevens' days of duty have ended.

IMPATIENT SOULS.

The Times' Washington special says: Hundreds of applications are being made for office under Mr. Wade when he becomes President.

GEN. HANCOCK.

The Tribune's special says: It is reported that Gen. Hancock has been telegrapned to by the President to return immediately to Washington to take command of the Atlantic Division.

DECIDED UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The United States Supreme Court has decided that the law of the State of Nevada, levying a tax of one dollar on every passenger leaving the State by coach or railroad, is unconstitutional.

THE GEORGIA CASE.

The Supreme Court of the United States has granted leave to file a bill in the case of the State of Georgia vs. General Grant and others.

OIL REGION ITEMS.

—The ice gorge near Hidetown broke up yesterday and passed down the creek.

—The Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburgh Railroad is now open to travel, and trains are being run regularly.

—Robert T. Sterrett, an old citizen of Erie, died on the 5th inst., aged nearly seventy-seven years.

—The Fee well, on Upper Cherry Run, has stopped flowing. It is now being pumped, and it is reported the production has not decreased.

—A disastrous fire visited Olean last week, by which twelve business firms were burned out, and between $65,000 and $75,000 worth of property destroyed.

—The oil pipes across the Allegheny river at Oil City have been broken, but the movement of oil will not be stopped, as preparations have been made to ship oil by the river.

—The shock of an earthquake was felt in Meadville on Saturday night, and a portion of the city was innundated from French Creek. Everybody attended church on Sunday.

—A bill has passed the Legislature incorporating the Petrolto-Calcium Gas Light Company of Pennsylvania, to supply cities and towns; capital $200,000; office located at Kittanning, Pa.

—The track of the Franklin Branch of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, between Franklin and Meadville, is under water in several places, on account of the rise in French Creek, and no trains have gone over it for two days. It is feared that the bridge across Sugar Creek has been swept away.

—On Saturday at 6 P. M., the owners of the Harmonial well at Pleasantville, determined to test it as a flowing well, and for that purpose stopped the machinery. The well soon commenced flowing, and has flowed steadily ever since, with an increase of production. It is now estimated at a hundred barrels per day. Sucker-rods not drawn.

—A few days since a new well was struck on the Northern Light Petroleum Company's Property on the flat on Bennehoff Run, on what has generally been considered watered territory. The well is now producing between thirty and forty barrels per day of the best quality of green oil. But very little water has been pumped from the well since operations were commenced, and it is thought by steady pumping the production can be increased.

The Presidential Outbreak.

We make room for the interesting speculations of "Agate," the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, who writes under date of the 14th as follows:

Impeachment as has before been said in this correspondence—was already sure to succeed in the Senate; but it cannot be denied that the New Hampshire success adds moral reinforcement to the measure.

If there were any doubt, therefore, of the nomination of Mr. Wade on the ticket with General Grant, at Chicago, yesterday may be said to have made assurance doubly sure as to that also. Mr. Wade is morally certain to be President of the United States within a few weeks. Whoever cares to know may know that what he now really desires, is to be the Republican candidate for Vice President. The Chicago Convention will, of course, be made up of office hunters, whoever saw a Presidential Convention that wasn't? They will all take the first chance to make known their preference for Wade as Vice President, in order that Wade, the President, may be induced to make known his preference for them in the matter of appointments. Mr. Colfax, Mr. Fenton, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Cresswell, and the whole host of lesser candidates will doubtless receive the complimentary votes of their States on the first ballot, but they might as well hang their harps on the first willows they can find. Their forces will eagerly await the chance for desertion to the winning colors, and at the close of the first, or before the close of the second ballot, Mr. Wade will be nominated by acclamation. Ohio—modest and retiring little State that she always is—will furnish both President and Vice President on the Republican ticket.

For that matter, she is still likely to furnish the head of the opposing ticket also. For a few days after the decision of their National Committee, to hold the Convention in New York, Pendleton stock was at a decided discount. But it seems now on the advance; and the impression is quite general here that he goes into their Convention with a column so strong that efforts to break it will have to be abandoned. His friends have all along claimed (and his enemies have conceded) that he would lead the list on the first ballot. They now claim that he will be nominated beyond the possibility of resistance on the second ballot; and some of his enemies, among whom may be reckoned such a persistent one as little Mr. Samuel Cox (not Minister to Austria) admits even this. One of the New England States has recently instructed for him, and Maryland Democrats say that their State is sure to do the same.

THE Kukluxklan has spread terror and committed various outrages throughout Tennessee. Recently a chapter of this diabolical order was formed in Memphis, and below we give their first general order:

DYING.

BY ROBERT BUCHANAN.

"O bairn, when I am dead,
How shall ye keep frae harm?
What hand will gie ye bread?
What fire will keep ye warm?
How shall ye dwell on earth awa' frae me?"
"O mither, dinna dee!"

"O bairn by night or day
I hear nae' sounds ava'.
But voices o' winds that blaw,
And the voices o' ghaists that say
I must awa'.
The Lord that made the wind and made the sea,
Is hard on my bairn and me,
And I melt in His breath like snaw."
"O mither, dinna dee!"

"O bairn, it is but closing up the een,
And lying down never to rise again.
Many a strong man's sleeping hae I seen—
There is nae pain!
I'm weary, weary, and I kenna why;
My summer has gone by,
And sweet were sleep for the sake o' thee."
"O mither, dinna dee."

EPHEMERIS.

—Kansas City has a new steam fire engine.

—Mrs. Partington, otherwise Shillaber, has the gout.

—Twenty feet is the limited width of the first street in Constantinople.

—Millions of grasshoppers are being hatched out on the Texas plains.

—Dubuque, Iowa, is in despair, for beer has gone up two dollars per barrel.

—Like the Union troops during the war, rents in New York continue to advance.

—There are 250,000 native Christians in India, and 200 native Christian preachers.

—"Round dances" have been fulminated against by several Roman Catholic Bishops.

—There are 31,896 lawyers in the United States. They average about 100 clients apiece.

—If you want your ears pierced, pinch the baby, says the philosopher who edits Punch.

—"There is every prospect of a bountiful harvest the coming season," says the Kansas City Advertiser.

—"The Fat Contributor" made his debut as a Thespian, on Saturday last, in Cincinnati. He did Toodles.

—Daniel Lord never held any public office. We know several other men as pure as Lord in that respect.

—The City of Boston dispenses soup to about 3,000 persons daily, who are quite unable to dispense with it.

—A Philadelphia obituary notice announces "corpse can be seen on Sunday afternoon, after half past four o'clock."

—A Yankee inventor is using up his energies and genius in an attempt, which thus far has proven vain, to invent self-paying bills.

—St. Louis is rampant on the lottery question. The present favorite has the taking name of "Benevolent Homestead Association."

—Miss E. T. Greenfield, the gifted and wealthy young colored lady, better known as the Black Swan, is giving concerts in Philadelphia.

—De. Pol is in Cincinnati with his balle troupe, of which Morlacchi and Ricci are the leading members. They are playing Undine to closely packed houses.

—Several thousands of Swiss are going to emigrate to Virginia, and one of their number has been sent forward to hunt up a proper location and to purchase it.

—Can any sage or philosopher explain why it is that the whole country has gone raving mad, within the last few years, on the twin subjects of lottery and the ballet?

—Bateman is reported to have offered $50,000 in gold to Strauss, if he will come to America for a year. It must be a queer old ostrich that will refuse so tempting a bait.

—General Hooker is in Naples. Neapolitan journals, anxious to conciliate the renowned soldier by speaking of him familiarly, announce the arrival of "Fytin Joe."

—The Boston Post calls the human body a peripatetic cullender because it has several million pores. Pittsburgh had several pours yesterday, but we shan't think of calling it a cullender.

—Handel was once, when quite young, a street musician. Although most of the modern organs have handles, they don't all make such great revolutions in music as did the great composer.

—There is hardly a city in the Union that has a theatre, that does not have Sunday evening religious services in it. Some of the larger cities have these services in more than one of their theatres.

—New York has had some rain recently. The Commercial Advertiser did not like it, it was not a pleasant sort of rain evidently, for that paper, poetically inspired, says it was only an exaggerated fog.

—Chanfrau and Lotta are both going to Europe shortly. They certainly ought to succeed when they get there, for no more charming artists in their separate departments ever trode the boards of any theatres.

—New Jersey talks of selling vegetables by weight. A New Jersey journal says that enthusiastic friends of the measure are numerous. Are we to judge from this that friends of the weights are not also numerous?

—In lieu of other excitements, the Chicago papers are stirring up the cholera question once more, and calling on the Board of Health to prepare to repel an attack or stand a siege from that much dreaded enemy..

—As every one probably has heard, the editor of the Memphis Avalanche is being punished for his sins in the county jail. The wife of this gentleman has assumed the editorial chair, scissors and pen, and is wielding the latter with ability.

—The young ladies of Cambridge City, in Indiana, have begun a new plan to force young men to go to church. They have agreed in council assembled to allow no young man to accompany them from church who has not himself attended the service.

—Mrs. D. P. Bowers has gone to California. It is to be hoped that she will pay her expenses there and no more, for she is entirely too excellent an actress to be lost to the Eastern stage, and the fewer attractions she finds in the Occident, the more probability there will be of her speedy return.

—Hiram Powers is coming home next summer. Here then is a man who might be lionized with much more justice than are some foreign authors who come to make money out of us. Powers was the first really great sculptor which our country produced, and to him as much as to any other man is due the elevation of the artistic reputation of America.

—Jefferson Davis says that the reconstruction acts are not constitutional. Than any other man we know of is J. D., endowed with cheek, or he would not presume to have, much less to express any opinion on the subject of the Constitution or the laws.

—John Doyle, the eminent caricaturist, is dead. He was a cotemporary of Hood, Hook, Leech, Cruikshank and Thackeray, and was at one time the most noted comic delineator in England. Of all the glorious coterie of wit of those days, Cruikshank is the sole survivor.

—Religious services are held in the Boston Theatre on Sunday. Recently, says the Boston Post, at the foot of the programme of services was the following notice, which usually appears only on week nights: "The audience is requested to remain seated until the close of the grand transformation scene."

—Vice President Paz, of the Argentine Republic, is dead. Cholera killed him. South America is an enviable spot or continent; there is no place elsewhere Vice Presidents are so easily gotten rid of. General Paz, however, was one of that class whose death is more to be lamented than to be thankful for.

—Woather has been cold and fuel high in price, in Montreal. When a combination of this kind occurs, we naturally expect that men will suffer, and are therefore not surprised halfas much as we are pained to learn that very many poor families in that city have burned up every stick of furniture they possessed, and are lying on the floors.

—The Chicago Post is inclined to be hyperpolite. It says 229 young gentlemen and 324 young ladies were born in Chicago, during the month of February. How we all have laughed at the old world Madame Etiquette who on being asked by a certain King, "How is the baby ?" responded "I to not know, your Majesty, but his Highness the Prince is well." The ubiquitous Jenkins has evidently a branch house in Chicago.

—Snow troubles the Pacific railway more than a little. How decidedly unpleasant it would be to attempt to go to San Francisco some day when the road is completed and to be blocked up in the Rocky Mountains for a week or two without fuel or food. In such a case the horrible last resort of shipwrecked mariners would we suppose be justifiable, so we may look upon the Pacific Railway as a promoter of cannibalism as well as of civilization.

CLIPS.

Drink for horse-eaters—Hippo-cras.

The wind to please the pigs.—Sow-sow-west.

An unknown quantity—Chiltern Hundreds.

A bad investment—The money spent by the losing party in New Hampshire.

Attractive motto for the shoeblack's box.—"Bright be the place of my soul."

Near-sighted invalid lady—"Patrick, can you read the name on the shop just opposite for me?"

Patrick—"Sure, Miss, it's as ignorant as yourself I am! They never taught me to read either!"

The common song—"Wearing of the Green," to be given with fine effect a few weeks later.

Jones knocked on the door of an assessor of internal revenue, and was told to come in. He responded with an income.—Boston Traveller.

Those stupid foreigners!—Old Growler complains that if you ask a German waiter simply for a glass of beer, he directly goes away and brings you a choppe.

Between Memphis and Nashville is the following inscription on a signboard at a railroad crossing: "Look out for the Ingine when the wisle bloes or rings."

A cynical chap insists that the fewer relations or friends we have the happier we are. In your poverty they never help you; in your prosperity they always help themselves.

"Poor little fellow, aren't you cold?" said a pretty young lady to a newsboy of whom she had just made a purchase. "Yes, ma'am, before you smiled," was the gallant response.—Ex. Hard story.

The chap deservedly won his bet, who, in company, when every one was bragging of his tall relations, wagered that he himself had a brother twelve feet high. He had, he said, "two half brothers, each measuring six feet."

A man in Sheffield, Mass, owns a horse that has not been out of the stable a dozen times in ten years. He was never broken, and it is a most absurd looking animal, his fore feet being as broad as platters.—Ex. Perhaps it's a saw-horse.

A stupid fellow tried to annoy a popular preacher by asking him whether the fatted calf of the parable was male or female. "Female, to be sure," was the reply: "for I see the male"—looking his questi ner full in the face—"yet alive in the flesh before me."

There is a certain lady of rank and fashion in Paris who constantly believes herself to be dying. To her husband, who is absent on a political mission, she recently sent the following telegram: "Return instantly. I am very ill—dying." To which M. de —— replied: "Pressing business. Wait a fortnight." Madame de —— has waited.

The latest specimen of juvenile literature is this: As Wi-ll-i-am Wilk-ins was walking in the gar-den one day, he met his dear sis-ter and thus he did say: "Why is a squash like a lit-tle news-boy?" She gave it up. "Because," said this wicked boy, "the old-er he grows the more of a yel-ler he will be." His good grandmamma overheard him and went to bed sick with grief.

The grandmother of a well known celebrated English financier having reached the patriarchal age of ninety-nine years and eight months, feeling very weak one morning, sent for her doctor, and ask him if he thought she would attain the age of one hundred? "Well, madam," he replied, "you may depend upon me doing my best.' "Oh, do," replied the old lady; "I should like so to reach par!"

—A new railroad is now being surveyed from Fort Wayne to Kankakee city, by the engineers of the Pittsburgh and Fort Wayne road, which company will construct and equip the first fifty miles westward at their own expense. Ground will be broken on the first of May.

—The earnings of the Toledo, Wabash and Western Railroad for the third week in February were $60,180—an increase on the earnings of the corresponding week in 1867 of $18,898.

Another Jibbenainoisy in the Field.

A young man is now stopping at the Key City House, by the name of George W. Porter, whose parents, brothers, sisters and relatives were all murdered at Redwood, Minnesota, in the great Indian massacre of 1861. He is the sole survivor, and was the only one left to communicate the mournful intelligence to the nearest settlement. Bereft in one brief hour of all that he held dear on earth, and with the victims of savage ferocity extended in death before him, he took a solemn vow of vengeance. How well he has performed that vow, the reader may judge when we state that in six years young Porter has, alone, and with the assistance of nothing but his trusty rifle, sent to the happy-hunting grounds the souls of one hundred and eight Indian braves!

He carries with him a piece of canebrake about twelve inches in length, and whenever he killed an Indian he would make a notch on this. One hundred and eight notches are now to be counted on the piece of cane alluded to, the last one being on Christmas, 1866. Surely young Porter has been an avenging Nemesis on the footsteps of those who have slaughtered his kindred. The Indians killed embrace representatives from nearly every tribe on the Plains. By night and by day he followed them; through the trackless forests, over the desert wastes, by the mountain sides and in the lonely glen has he pursued his victims, until the crack of the rifle and the death yell proclaimed that another redskin had been sent to his final account, and sated with blood the vengeance of his pursuer. Porter has not passed through all these perilous scenes unscathed. His body has been riddled by eleven bullets and slashed in thirty-three places by the knife. But he has withstood all, come out victorious, and now exhibits with pride the trophies of his power. Truly, his parents and relatives have been deeply, terribly avenged.—Dubuque (Iowa) Times.

—The Herepath, (C. W.) Railroad Journal says: At least one influential proprietor has recently been in correspondence with Mr. Watkins and Captain Tyler, Directors of the Grand Trunk, pressing them to obtain from the Canadian Government a grant of 5,000,000 acres of land, and to establish a land office similar to the Illinois Central's.

—Preparations are being made to commence work on the new road from Terre Haute to Indianapolis soon. It is thought that the road can be completed in six months.

CARPET BEATING

ESTABLISHMENT.

Which TEN YEARS' TRIAL in New York and other Eastern cities has proved a complete success.

ITS ADVANTAGES:

1st—Fading and Shrinkage are completely avoided.
2d—No ripping apart necessary.
3d—When freed from dust, moths or their larvae, the Carpet looks nearly as good as new, save the natural fading from wear.
4th—When perfectly clean, a Carpet will wear as long again, a desirable matter as a mere point of economy, to say nothing of looks.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

MONEY AND GOLD.

Money easy and steady at 6a7 per cent. on call. Sterling active and firm at 109¾a 109⅞ for prime bankers' bills. Gold slightly advanced; opened at 139¼, rose to 139¾, and closed at 139⅞a139¼.

GOVERNMENTS.

Government stocks are firm. It is reported that the Erie Company bought on Saturday a large amount of Seven-Thirties, for temporary investment of funds received on the sale of stocks, which, if true, may release the money market. Henry, Clews & Company furnish the annexed 4:30 quotations: Coupons, '81, 111¾a111 3-4; do. '62, 110¾a110 3-4; do. '64, 108¼a108⅜; do. '65, 108⅜a108⅞; do. new, 107¼a107⅜; do. '67, 107 1-2a107⅝; Ten-Forties, 101¼a 101⅜; Seven-Thirties, 106 1-2a106⅝.

STOCKS.

Stocks opened heavy and weak, Erie especially, at 80. A large amount was thrown on the market, under which the price fell from 73 to 69⅝. In the afternoon the market was active and panicky. The Vanderbilt party were understood to be heavy buyers of Erie from 71 1-2 down to 69 1-2; but as soon as their brokers relaxed there was a perfect rush to sell, which caused stock to go down to 61 1-2, which was finally succeeded by a rally. The Vanderbilt roads generally were sold down, the Central touching 123 1-2, Hudson 136 and Toledo 103 3-8.

Western shares were lower, especially on St. Paul. Among the miscellaneous shares Canton broke from 56½ this morning to 42, but afterwards rallied to 45a46. Pacific Mail very weak and declined to 108 3-4. General market very much unsettled at the close. The failure of H. C. Stimpson & Co., who have been carrying a heavy amount of Canton is announced. Their assets are sufficient to cover all liabilities. Another small failure is also announced.

RIVER NEWS.

The Allegheny river was again rising at this point last evening with eighteen feet in the channel. Telegrams from Oil City report it rising and raining with fifteen feet in the channel, and a considerable portion of the country up there is completely submerged. At Brady's Bend we have eighteen feet reported, and twenty-two feet at Aladdin. The Monongahela river was apparently at a stand last evening with seventeen feet in the channel. The weather yesterday was cloudy and sultry, the thermometer being up to 60 degrees above zero, and there were several heavy showers of rain.

There has been no arrivals since Saturday excepting the regular packets, and the J. N. McCullough, for Parkersburg, was the only departure. The St. Charles, from Cincinnati, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning

The Peninah, one of Com. Kountz's new mountain steamers left on Sunday and yesterday morning was lying at Steubenville, taking on nails. We understand that she has also considerable freight engaged at Wheeling.

Capt. Stockdale left the Sallie at Bellair yesterday, and came from there home by rail. He reports that she performed admirably in every particular, and that she will be faster than he even expected.

The towboats Sam Brown, Antelope and Grand Lake departed yesterday with heavy tows of coal. It is reported that there are five towboats laid up this side of the Steubenville Bridge waiting for the river to fall before they can pass under. This bridge has occasioned several disasters to the coal fleet, and is regarded by steamboatmen generally as a public nuisance.

The Bellevernon, from St. Louis, was due here last night and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

Last evening at dusk the Allegheny marks showed nineteen and a half feet—a rise of twelve inches in one hour and a quarter.

The Coal Valley sunk three barges containing 4000 bushels of coal on Friday night last by striking the Steubenville bridge.

The Kate Robinson, Capt. Robert Robinson is now in turn for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will be the first boat out. The Lorena, Capt. Sam, Shuman, is up for Saint Louis, and the Wauanita, Capt. Thos. Shuman, is loading for Missouri river. The Leni Leote, Capt. Hamilton, is announced for Fort Benton, as is also the new steamer Andrew Ackley, not yet completed.

The "Wild Duck Barges" are expected to arrive here to-day, and will commence loading for St. Louis to-morrow. As Capt. Anawalt has already part of his cargo engaged, he expects to be ready to leave on Saturday.

The Argosy left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday, and the Kate Putnam was advertised to leave on Monday.

The New York left for Cincinnati and Louisville last night with a full freight list.

The Emma No. 3 passed Memphis Wednesday, with 400 tons miscellaneous freight. She added 256 bales cotton there.

Capt. Henry G. Carson has sold his (one-eight) interest in the steamer Virginia, to Capt. John P. Fitzgerald.

Captain John S. Doyle, formerly of the Little Rock, has purchased Captain Ab. Shaws' interest (one-half) in the steamer Minnie.

The steamer Michigan has been chartered to carry 15,000 sacks of corn from Evansville to Parkersburg.

The "automatic fireman" is being removed from the Major Anderson, having failed to satisfy the Mail Company. The Louisville Courier thinks, however, it can be made successful.

A St. Louis paper says: We regret to state that owing to the unfortunate situation of New Orleans, its unsettled commercial relations, monetary affairs, and the scarcity of shipping, the usual trade that naturally centers there has been directed to New York. Corn, the great western staple, usually seeks a market and an outlet in New Orleans, as the increased product of the valley of the Wabash, the Ohio, and the Mississippi has always found that the most accessible as well as the point to be reached at less than half the expense of transportation to New York. Now, however, the prices are in favor of New York so largely that, together with the fact that there is a lack of sailing vessels in that port to carry the grain, it is turned up stream instead of down, and the western boatmen are the losers.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Friday, says: The Northern Line commences operations by dispatching the Davenport on Monday, to the highest point attainable. The Keokuk, Quincy and Peoria packets bring in full cargoes. The immense Mollie Able loads in competition with the Atlantic Line. She will take out a full cargo of about 1800 tons. The Glendale left with a large number of passengers, and received 200 tons of ore at Corondolent. The Armenia also departed. The Commonwealth will haye her new set of boilers put in, and be fixed up generally for the season's work in the New Orleans trade. Total rise, eight feet and still swelling.

We extract the following from the Cincinnati Gazette of Saturday: The Camelia, from Nashville to Pittsburgh, passed up yesterday with 5000 sacks corn, which she had received at Evansville, and which will be reshipped on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad at Pittsburgh. The Armadillo, from Pittsburgh to St. Louis, passed down yesterday, heavily loaded. The Argosy arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday, and will return this evening. The Maggie Hays from Pittsburgh, with the new barge Monarch in tow, arrived yesterday, and after receiving coal and changing pilots, proceeded to St. Louis. There were 450 tons freight on the boat, and 250 tons on the barge. The cabin was so full of passengers that no more could be received, without making beds on the floor.

David Bogart, a passenger on the Argosy died of consumption aboard the boat, between Pittsburgh and here, and his body was brought to this city. Some of his relatives were passengers with him.

The Vevay (Ind.) Reveille, of last week, gives a rumor that the Major Anderson will soon ply between that place and Louisville, and says: "The Vevay and Louisville Packet" sounds "big." The same paper also says that two steamboats are owned by parties residing in that town—the Argosy and J. D. Pratt.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 139 1-2.

GEN. HANCOCK is ordered to report at Washington immediately. It is understood that he is to be placed in command of the new Atlantic Military Division. Whatever may be the nature of the President's plans and expectations, we are curious to see whether Gen. HANCOCK—the splendor of whose war record only makes our regret the more painful for his complete failure as a civil administrator—will be found willing to tarnish the lustre of distinguished services for the Union in lending himself now to the dangerous uses of a falling and desperate man.

How profound the obedient reverence in which the Judiciary is held by the Democracy! And how consistently they manifest their respect for the ermine! For example, in the Ohio Senate, last week, a Democratic majority unseated a Republican and admitted his competitor, on the strength of forty votes cast for the former by citizens more than half white, but yet showing a admixture of blood—plump in the teeth of repeated decisions by the Supreme Court of the State, establishing the clear constitutional right of these citizens to suffrage. Constitutions and Courts are nowhere, when that party sees its advantage, and yet they have the assurance to talk to us!

NEW HAMPSHIRE politicians of both parties, before the election, canvassed the State and published their estimates of the vote to be given, and the Republicans were within fifty of their own actual vote, while they put the Democracy about five hundred too high. But the Democratic figures were sadly out of the way, claiming for themselves two hundred votes more, and for the Republicans five thousand five hundred and thirty less than were subsequently polled. Our friends estimated the total vote at only four hundred and fifty less than were cast, while the Democratic estimate fell five thousand short. We shall consider the New Hampshire Republican figures as entitled to great confidence hereafter.

CONNECTICUT holds her State election on the 6th of April. The vote will be close, and its result doubtful. The State vibrates from one party to the other in alternate years, by majorities of less than one thousand. While we believe that the Republican ticket, headed by MARSHALL JEWELL for Governor, has at least an equal chance for winning the day, it should be remembered that either result will have little or no political significance in a national point of view. Our friends may maintain their ground and yet lose the State, which went Democratic last year. Encouraged by New Hampshire, and re-invigorated by the "back-bone" displayed at Washington, we have a strong hope that Connecticut will resume her former place among the loyal friends of the Union.

IN THE PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION of 1860, Mr. MORROW B. LOWRY, of Erie, acting in behalf of the supporters of Mr. SIMON CAMERON, offered a resolution for the appointment of a Committee, consisting of three members, to frame an Electoral ticket, to nominate the entire delegation from the Commonwealth to the National Convention at Chicago, and binding the delegation so appointed to cast an unanimous vote for Mr. CAMERON as the candidate for the Presidency. The adoption of this resolution was strenuously resisted by all the friends of Mr. ANDREW G. CURTIN, in that body, ourselves among the number. After a protracted and warm struggle, the respective districts were allowed to select their own delegates and electors. A separate resolution was then carried through instructing the delegates to vote as a unit for Mr. CAMERON.

When the delegation met at Chicago the effect of this resolution was brought under consideration. Mr. ANDREW H. REEDER, from the Eleventh district, insisted that the delegation was under obligations to go in a solid body for Mr. CAMERON. Considering that Mr. CAMERON, at that time, had very few supporters in that district; that the other three delegates from it were all opposed to Mr. CAMERON; that in that opposition they reflected truly the wishes of their constituents; and that Mr. REEDER had been made one of the delegates solely on the ground of personal courtesy; his position was peculiarly offensive. Mr. DAVID WILMOT, one of the delegates at large, and also a supporter of Mr. CAMERON, took the opposite and just view. He held that the district delegates not receiving their appointment from the State Convention, were not amenable to its instructions. This view prevailed, and the delegation did not vote as a unit for Mr. CAMERON. We happen to know that if the decision of the delegation, as to the force and effect of the instructions of the State Convention, had been the other way, the result would have worked no change in the sentiments or votes of the delegates who did not prefer Mr. CAMERON for President.

At the late Republican State Convention the friends of Mr. CURTIN had a very large majority, fairly indicative of the well-earned popularity of that gentleman with the Republican masses. His chief supporters in this body were members of the Convention of 1860. Yet they brought forward, and carried through, a resolution empowering the Chairman of the delegation in the National Convention to cast the whole number of votes for Mr. CURTIN for the Vice Presidency. In adopting a rule they had denounced as wrong, if not infamous, these gentlemen put themselves in a false position, and clearly invaded the rights of the minority. The resolution is not binding on the delegation. This has been our ground from the origin of this controversy in the party, and we shall maintain it to the end, no matter what temporary advantages we or our associates might gain by accepting the other view.

MR. THOMAS M. MARSHALL signalized himself in the State Convention of 1860 by resisting the resolution of instructions when pressed upon that body. He earned equal honor by resisting it in the late Convention. There was a noble manliness in his attitude on each of these occasions, and strictly accordant with the impulses of his generous nature.

AN UNPROFITABLE PUNCTILIO.

Secretary SEWARD contends that our objection to the exercise by England of her right, under the state of facts then existing, to concede the privileges of belligerency to the Confederate States, is one that we cannot abandon without prejudice to our national honor. Yet he does not undertake to deny that the Federal power at an early hour in the rebellion yielded to necessity, and under that compulsion, the inevitable requirements of the situation, also acknowledged the rebel title to all the privileges and immunities of belligerency.

Had we maintained this outbreak to be only an insurrection, every prisoner captured, of whatever rank, would have been liable to summary trial, before court martial, and punishment as a traitor taken in arms. Reprisals would have followed, and the rebellion would instantly have become a repetition of the indiscriminate butcheries with which the internal commotions of Mexico shock the humanity of the world. In short, for this and other good reasons, both practical and technical, we were forced to grant to our "wayward sisters" a regular position under the laws of international warfare. The Secretary's point has therefore no substantial weight, for, offended as we might have been at England's unfriendly haste to anticipate our own acknowledgement, her official action was in due time abundantly justified.

Why then waste words in bootless controversy upon a technical point which serves only to embarrass that adjustment of every material matter in dispute, which is to-day awaiting our acceptance? Can the Secretary specify a dollar of damage done by rebel privateers sailing from British ports, before our own official recognition of the war-power of the rebels? He may say, and with truth, this only, that England's "hasty" recognition was powerfully instrumental in forcing the Federal Government to follow its footsteps. But can he satisfy his own countrymen or the world that, had England forborne that recognition and held entirely aloof from the exercise of her sovereign right, our own government would have found itself able to quell the rebellion, simply and legally as a rebellion, without yielding its claim to the higher category of a regular belligerent?

In all questions of etaics, politics or public duty, domestic or international, let us maintain only what is right. And, whenever right, we trust no American, statesman or citizen, will be found false to his country's claims. Let us at all times accept the truly American idea, so practically wise, which prefers the substance to the shadow, and contents itself with reaping the solid advantage, wasting no time or words unprofitably in splitting hairs upon nice points with opponents who can make quite as good a show as ourselves in logic and law, and whose side of the controversy is that which concurs with our own highest National interests. For nothing is more evident that in future years America should be free to claim, undisputed, precisely that sovereign right for which England now contends.

The question is, simply and properly, only one of law, not of feeling. If the first be against us, it is our duty and our interest to yield it, and we can comfort our wounded pride by remembering that we have, by that concession of the international principle, a most effective means of gratifying the outraged sentiment in future, retaliation. Conceding that principle (and we can find no law to defend it,) it shields us in coming years, when, if we unwisely choose to remain vindictive, we can retort with her own policy, upon the unfriendly power. We have a higher motive than that, in securing the broadest expression of the rights of a sovereign power. The most absolute freedom of nations in this respect is the true policy for America, and we are crippling ourselves in the false position which Secretary SEWARD seems resolute to maintain.

The satisfactory settlement of the present affair with England is practically within our reach. We urge its immediate adjustment, as a matter only inferior in importance to reconstruction and impeachment. The delay has thus far proved beneficial, for the discussion has been temperate and dignified, and the solid English common sense has slowly but decisively been led to acknowledge the substantial merit of our claims. But now the solution which two great nations sincerely desire, upon a basis mutually satisfactory, hangs upon a hair, fatally imperilled by a mere punctilio. Nothing can be more absurd than this, were it not so dangerous to interests of really vital importance. The discussion has matured itself to a point where further delays can result in no good to either party, and may cause fresh and injurious complications. The new British Ministry is committed as squarely as its predecessors to the main principle under discussion, and will adhere to it. But it substantially admits, as facts, the deficiency of England's neutrality laws and her own remissness in their execution. Without this, she would not entertain our reclamations for an instant. This is all we need ask; it is all we can hope to sustain. Why should not Congress, then, recognize and control the situation, by quickening the hesitating diplomacy of our Fabian Secretary, into an early and wise decision, improving the ripe opportunity in the true interests, present and remote, of the United States as a first-rate power, and of exactly that "national honor" for which he is so needlessly solicitous?

WALL STREET experiences its monthly excitement again. It is now convulsed by a stock-jobbing conflict between the two railway Titans, Vanderbilt and Drew. The prize they fight for is the control of the Erie Railway, and no contest of such magnitude has ever before been known in the annals of even that arena of gladiatorial finance. Vanderbilt bought into a majority of the existing stock. Drew thereupon, having the inside track in the present control of this company, threw fifty thousand new shares upon the market. Both parties flew to the law courts and injunctions were piled upon injunctions by each against the other, and Drew, being somewhat worsted at this game,—since his adroit adversary had managed to envelop him in a series of mandates and prohibitions so essentially contradictory that he could neither go forward nor stand still without committing a "contempt,"—fled by night with his Directors, his books and his millions of the Company's cash, to the friendly shores of New Jersey, and there directs his further operations and snaps his fingers at the Commodore in exultant defiance. The latter's next move is not yet revealed, but in audacity and strategy, whatever it may be, it will certainly be worthy of the ability of a man who never yet failed of ultimate success.

The control of the Erie Railroad with its proposed extension by Akron and Toledo to Chicago, is an essential point in the success or defeat of the far-reaching plans of consolidation, with which these rival railway kings of New York are aiming to secure to their own lines the traffic of the continent, even to the shores of the Pacific, and to secure it, these two men, each backed by his retainers, are wielding millions as other men use thousands.

THE RUMORS from Tennessee, of anticipated danger to the public peace, are undoubtedly occasioned by the increasing audacity of a secret rebel organization in that State, spreading perhaps into Kentucky, and styling itself the "Kuk-Lux-Klan." This organization, in its treasonable objects and the desperate violence of its rebel sympathies, is the twin-brother of the "Order of the Golden Circle" to which our copperhead Democracy were so partial during the war. With the first indications of its existence a few months since, the belief was generally entertained that without any aim to control general politics, its especial object was rather to perpetrate outrages on individual Union citizens, but of late their operations have become so extensive and systematic as to inspire a more alarming belief. The Memphis of the 11th, noticing their appearance in that vicinity, says:

We take it that the rebel order of the Knights of the Golden Circle have been resurrected in this form to attempt again their devilish work of arousing neighboring strife and civil war. Their history in Middle Tennessee, so far, has been a carnival of blood and outrage, and the overriding and defiance of law. Effectual measures should at once be taken to put a stop to this secret organization of enemies of society and mankind. Appearing here at first in the form of rebel nonsense and gasconade, it may hereafter assumea more serious aspect, threatening the peace of the city and country.

AN EPISCOPAL REPRIMAND.

In accordance with the judgment of the ecclesiastical court, Rev. S. H. TYNG, jr., was publicly reprimanded by Bishop POTTER, on Saturday last, at the Church of the Transfiguration, in New York. Mr. TYNG'S offence consisted in having held services in the edifice and according to the forms of another christian denomination, of which he was the more easily convicted, since he freely avowed and defended his act. The scene at the Church was peculiarly interesting, and none the less so for the protest which was offered against the official action of the Bishop. The admonition was very long, and partook of the nature of an argument reviewing the entire case. Of the proceedings and protest we have the annexed account from the Evening Post:

Four policemen occupied the head of the aisles to prevent persons from crowding in front of the altar during the Bishop's address.

After the preliminary exercises, Bishop Potter rose, and in a loud voice said: "Rev. Stephen H. Tyng, Jr., come forward!" The Bishop repeated the summons a second time, when Mr. Tyng stepped forward and took the second seat in the central aisle. His father also occupied the same pew.

Mr. Tyng throughout the entire reading of the admonition kept his seat, with his eye steadfastly fixed upon Bishop Potter.

The delivery of the admonition occupied about three-quarters of an hour, and towards the close Bishop Potter's voice was tremulous with emotion. The members of the court and assisting clergymen remained standing during the reading.

As soon as Bishop Potter said "Amen" at the close of the paper, Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng rose, and producing a manuscript from his pocket, read as follows, to the amazement of nearly all present:

"Horatio Potter, Right Reverend Bishop of New York"——

Bishop Potter immediately turned to Rev. Dr. Houghton and said in an excited manner, "Go on!" "Go on!" Dr. Houghton then proceeded with his prayer—Dr. Tyng also reading his protest at the same time.

Dr. Tyng read four or five lines of the document, when finding that he could not be heard, he quietly folded up the paper and remained standing until the conclusion of the prayer.

Bishop Potter then advanced to the front of the chancel and pronounced the benediction, at the conclusion of which a scene of great confusion ensued.

Rev. Dr. Tyng went forward and handed Bishop Potter a protest which he was not permitted to read. This document was "a solemn prosest against this whole proceeding, now completed, from its commencement to its conclusion, as false in its allegation, unjust in its principle, uncanonical in its form, illegal in its transactions, iniquitous in its purpose, and voluntarily and persistently persecuting in its spirit, process and development."

It was also a "solemn appeal from this decision of this court, and from this approval thereof, by the Bishop of this diocese, under the most earnest sense of the cruel injustice with which this respondent has been treated, to the supreme and final decision of the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States; to the abiding sense of justice and righteousness in the individual members of this Church; to the conscientious review of the Christian Church throughout this land; to the record of future historic truth; to generations of advancing light and religious purity and power, which may come hereafter; and with the deepest humility, but with confidence unfeigned, to the judgment-seat of the Lord Jesus Christ, who is the one Great Head and Ruler of His Church, and whose approval can never be given to the persecution of the innocent, or to the oppression of the weak."

The friends of Mr. Tyng crowded about the pew occupied by him, and some of them denounced the court which found the verdict, while a few alluded to Bishop Potter in no complimentary terms.

The noise and confusion by the vast throng was very great, and it required the utmost efforts of the four or five policemen present to disperse the audience, a large part of whom, it is said, were exceedingly anxious to organize a meeting to sympathize with Mr. Tyng then and there.

At length the audience dispersed, and the friends of Mr. Tyng proceeded to the Church of the Mediator, where other proceedings took place.

MR. JOHNSON'S VERACITY.

As Military Governor of Tennessee, Mr. JOHNSON made very grave charges against General BUELL, then commanding the Army of the Ohio, and finally succeeded in procuring his removal from that command. A commission subsequently met at Nashville, to investigate these charges and it was found that they were very difficult to prove. Mr. JOHNSON was called upon to testify, but this he declined doing, although every effort was made to procure his attendance. In these efforts, says a writer:

The Judge Advocate was aided by Gen. Buell, who said openly that Andrew Johnson would never dare swear in his presence to what he had publicly asserted. At last the pressure became so strong that Andrew Johnson fled to Washington to escape further process. To Washington the Judge Advocate followed the reluctant witness, and succeeded at last in procuring a sworn statement very much softened from that made by the same Johnson through the Rev. Col. Moody, President Lincoln, and the press generally. This affidavit the Commission treated with deserved contempt, and General Buell, before the Commission, in his published defense, denounced it as false in every particular. It became evident to the Commission that Andrew Johnson was as deficient in courage as he was devoid of truthfulness. But the confiding Judge Advocate, still having a remnant of confidence in the noisy demagogue, urged him, after he became acting President, to open the controversy, and at least make a rejoinder to General Buell's damaging charges. In this he failed. This man he found willing to rest under the charge of perjury, preferred against him by an officer, whose word at least has never been doubted; and it is rather late for one thus impeached to make charges that must rest, if sustained at all, on his own word against a man so well known as General Grant for courage and high toned integrity.

"The New Passenger Railway."

EDITORS GAZETTE: An article in the Sunday Leader of the 15th inst., under the above caption, calls for a brief notice. The writer charges that the said road is got up for the purpose of selling out, &c.

Now, that the road has thus far been successfully carried along to a third reading in the House, the Citizens Railroad monopoly is no doubt a little alarmed. But the necessities of the people along the line demand the road, and notwithstanding the libelous article, (which was written for a purpose it did not fail to accomplish) the bill for its incorporation will become a law. It is believed the members at Harrisburg from Allegheny are not yet prepared to vote that we shall ride two and three miles with forty or fifty others, crowded together like so many animals, in a car of capacity for only twenty, and this, too, day after day and year after year. The statements in the article are false, all false, and known to be so by the writer, or informer, who has imposed upon that paper. Such men as Samuel Kier, W. W. Young, W. D. McCallum, Paul Hugus, J. H. Hillerman, A. J. Cochran, Chas. H. Armstrong, &c., are men well known in this community, and yet such men are charged with getting it up to sell it out, in other words to blackmail the Citizens Passenger Railway. They have simply taken charge of the matter in response to the wishes of every person who travels the route, and, moreover, they intend to put it through. N. W. SHAFER.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—M'lle Zoe commenced the second week of her engagement at the Opera House last night. The audience, though not as large as we expected, was quite respectable. "Levangro" was presented with M'lle Zoe in two characters, the title role and that of Henri De Lacy, both of which were admirably sustained. In this piece she evinces a versatility of talent beyond our expectations. To-night she will appear again in a double role, in "Green Bushes; or, Ireland One Hundred Years Ago," which we are informed is one of her best pieces. Seats will doubtless be in demand.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE—This evening our friends will remember, is the grand opening night of the Theatre Comique, at the old Pittsburgh Theatre, under the management of Fred Aimes. A first-class dramatic company has been engaged, and it is the intention of the manager, as is characteristic of him, to spare neither expense nor trouble to render the establishment attractive. The "corps de ballet," headed by the Zocolo sisters, premier demuses from Niblo's Garden, New York, is said to be one of the best ever put on the stage in Pittsburgh, and consequently will be one of the most attractive features. Go and see them.

Discoveries in Rome.

Interesting antiquarian discoveries have been recently made on the site of the Palace of the Cæsars, in Rome, where Signor Rosa, who directs the excavations for the Emperor Napoleon, has found the base of what appears to have been an altar, bearing an interesting inscription, stating that it was erected by "Cacius Domitius Calvinus," who twice filled the consular dignity in the years B. C. 53 and 40, and who employed the treasures granted to him by the Senate, after his suppression of the Iberian insurrection in the reign of Augustus, towards the decoration of the imperial edifices on the Palatine. From this relic having been found close to the basement of the Temple of Jupiter Victor, raised at the close of the Social War by Fabius Maximus, B. C. 80, it is possible that it stood before the statue of that divinity. In another part of Rome, the site of the Emporium, between the foot of the Aventine and the Tiber, Signor Vesconti has brought to light numerous masses of rich ancient colored marbles, some bearing dates of the time of Domitian.

—Last week a new well was struck on the Cataract Lease, Bull Run. It is now producing about fifty barrels per day. The working interest is owed by R. H. Mitchell.

A Survivor of the Minnesota Massacre Kills One Hundred and Eight Indians.

From the Dubuque (Iowa) Times, March 4.

A young man is now stopping at the Key City House, by the name of George W. Porter, whose parents, brothers, sisters, and relatives, were all murdered at Redwood, Minnesota, in the great Indian massacre of 1861. He is the sole survivor, and was the only one left to communicate the mournful intelligence to the nearest settlement. Bereft in one brief hour of all that he held dear on earth, and with the victims of savage ferocity extended in death before him, took a solemn vow of vengeance. How well he has performed that vow, the reader may judge when we state that in six years young Porter has, alone, and with the assistance of nothing but his trusty rifle, sent to the happy hunting grounds the souls of one hundred and eight Indian braves. He carries a piece of canebreak, about twelve inches in length, and whenever he killed an Indian he would make a notch in this. One hundred and eight notches are now to be counted on the piece of cane alluded to, the last one being cut on Christmas, 1866. Surely young Porter has been an avenging Nemesis on the footsteps of those who slaughtered his kindred. The Indians killed embrace representatives from nearly every tribe on the plains. By night and by day he has followed them through the trackless forests, over desert wastes, by the mountain side and in the lonely glen has he pursued his victims until the crack of the rifle and the death yell proclaimed that another redskin had been sent to his final account, and sated with blood the vengeance of his pursuer. Porter had not passed through all these perilous scenes unscathed. His body has been riddled by eleven bullets and stabbed in thirty-three places by the knife. But he has withstood all, come out victorious, and now exhibits with pride the trophies of his prowess. Truly his parents and relatives have been deeply, terribly avenged.

Colonel Rose Assaults a Witness Who Testifies Against Him.

The following from the Richmond (Va.) Dispatch, of the 12th inst., will be read with interest by many people of this city, where Colonel Thomas E. Rose is so well known:

"Our readers will remember Brevet Col. Thomas E. Rose, Captain of the Eleventh United States Infantry and Superintendent of the election in this city for members of the State Convention, and that charges were preferred against him for unfairness and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. He appeared before a Court of Inquiry convened to investigate the charges. After a patient hearing the Court sent their opinion of the case to General Schofield, who, in an order sent to the Convention, announced that the Court had declared the Colonel to be innocent of some of the charges. Before the Court appeared a number of our most respectable citizens, who testified to the truthfulness of some of the charges. Among these gentlemen was Mr. William N. Fleigenheimer.

After the adjournment of the court Col. Rose left for Lynchburg, to which place his company had been previously sent. A few days since he returned, and late Monday evening met Mr. Fleigenheimer on the steps of the Exchange Hotel. The Colonel immediately commenced a tirade of abuse against Mr. F., saying that he had testified falsely, and that he could whip him and all other witnesses whose testimony was to the same effect, all of whom, he asserted, had perjured themselves. The Colonel's wrath got the better of him, and he drew his pistol and was about to carry his threat into execution. He was calmed, and Mr. F. went to Gen. Schofield and complained of the Colonel's conduct. The General told Mr. F. to have his charges put in writing, and he would have them investigated. Thus the matter stands.

Yale College.

William E. Dodge, of New York, has just given $10,000 to the fund for the erection of the new Theological Hall. The Yale Courant says:

The outside world hears little from Yale in regard to what she is doing for the cause of science by way of collecting geological, zoological and botanical specimens. The Cabinet of Yale is widely known as being very complete. It appears, however, very small in comparison with many others in the country. In several specialties many colleges now rank ahead of Yale. During the past year, however, a work of collecting specimens has been quietly going forward which now places many colleges second to her which hitherto have stood first in particular collections. When the Peabody Museum is erected, so that the thousands of specimens now stored away in boxes can be arranged, Yale will present one of the finest and best cabinets in the country. If we were at liberty we might make mention of these specimens which have lately been secured, some of which are very valuable and rare. We can assure our readers that the Yale Professors are doing honor to their Alma Mater in this respect. Thousands of dollars are being very judiciously expended.

Twenty of the last Freshmen class failed to pass a satisfactory examination in arithmetic.

Important Discovery in Gas.

An English paper says: "In accordance with instructions received from the British War Secretary, some important trials in connection with the consumption of gas, and which promise to be of great advantage to the public, have been completed at the gas works of the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich. It has been found that by combining bitumen with coal in gas retorts, the gas is evolved with great rapidity, and that it gives an illuminating power from one burner equal to twenty-five spermaceti candles. The experiments, which have been conducted by Captain Arthur Cocklin, C. B., of the Steam Reserve, Sheerness, have been so satisfactory, that two hundred tons of bitumen have been ordered by the War Department for use in the Arsenal."

—A call has been issued for a meeting of the Friends of Temperance, in Crawford county, to meet in Convention at the Court House in Meadville, Thursday, March 17th, at one o'clock P. M., for the purpose of organizing a County Christian Temperance Association, and for taking such other steps as may be deemed advisable to promote the temperance cause.

A WASHINGTON letter says: Grant settled the question of probable delay in the impeachment trial yesterday. Some one told him Johnson was going to ask time to send off to Alaska and other ends of the earth for witnesses. "What's the use of that?" said the General. "He can prove anything he wants to by Welles and Randall and McCulloch!"

SARCASTIC.—The Portsmouth Tribune is responsible for the following cruel item: "Eleven Democratic delegates from Cincinnati went up to Columbus, the day before the meeting of our State Convention. Their legs were chained together and they were accompained by a very attentive escort."

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—A baggage master on the Cincinnati and Lafayette Railroad, on Tuesday last, threw a bundle of pick-axes from the train as it was passing London, at twenty-five mile speed. One of the picks struck a man in the breast, with probable fatal result.

A Large Estate.

[From the Sullivan (Illinois) Democrat.]

M. L. Sullivan, of Glatsworth, Livingston county, owns forty thousand acres of arable land, partly in Livingston and partly in Ford counties, Illinois. On this ground he has three hundred and twenty miles of Osage orange hedge in thrifty condition. This year he will break up and put into cultivation ten thousand acres in addition to the broad area now sown, three thousand of which he will plant in corn, the balance in wheat and grass. Mr. Sullivan last year found that one of his outlots was not yielding the profit that he expected, so, a purchaser coming along one day, he sold him for cash twenty-four thousand acres in Champaign county, in one body. Mr. Jno. T. Alexander, of Jacksonville, was the lucky purchaser. In relation to the profit of such extensive farming as Mr. Sullivan carries on, we may say that rumor has it that his net income is from $60,000 to $80,000 a year, from his agricultural operations, most of which he expends for widening the area of his vast possessions, and for redeeming and improving the land acquired.

—About two months ago a new well was struck on Beninghoff Hill, but it did not produce any considerable quantity of oil until quite recently. The well has been thoroughly tested and the production now reaches forty barrels per day, with some prospects of an increase. The working interest is entirely owned by W. J. Runcie, of Williamsburg, New York.

Freshet in the Hudson.

ALBANY, March 16.—The river has risen some fifteen feet and the ice is nearly up to the roadway of the railroad bridge. Water street is navigable and boats are plying about on it. The stores are all closed and the goods removed up into the city. The weather continues very warm and the gorge is likely to break at any moment.

A FALLACY.

Some people think that Chronic Dyspepsia may be cured by exercise and diet alone. This is a mistake. The stomach must be stimulated and regulated, and the liver and the discharging organs put in good working order before a cure can be effected. Such is the operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

"They tone the stomach, set the liver right,
And put the stomach in such healthful plight,
That good digestion waits on appetite."

Many persons fancy that Fever and Ague can be avoided by adopting unusual precautions against damp and cold. Never was there a greater fallacy. There is no absolute safeguard against malarious maladies, except HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

"To brace the frame, and make it ague-proof,
To keep the causes of disease aloof,"

There is nothing like this genial vegetable invigorant. So, too, in cases where there is a predisposition to biliousness; the constitutional tendency is combated and held in check by the alternate action of the BITTERS.

Diet and regimen are powerful allies of judicious medical treatment when the preservation of health in insalubrious localities is the object in view; but they will not answer the desired end alone. Use them as aids to the BITTERS, but do not rely upon the efficacy of any formula that does not include this admirable tonic. The BITTERS consist of an unadulterated vegetable essence (unrivalled among stimulants,) medicated solely with herbs and roots of acknowledged virtue as tonics. It is agreeable to the taste and perfectly harmless. Even to children of delicate constitutions it may be given with perfect impunity. In fact, with these, as with those of older growth, its wonderful recuperant properties are at once apparent.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 130 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Whilst these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.

Same size and character as the Weekly, but furnishing twice as much reading matter, and giving the news with greater freshness. Great pains will also be taken in making up the political news of the day for this paper, so that the reader, whatever be his politics, will find the SEMI-WEEKLY SUN to be an accurate and comprehensive compendium of political information. In fact, we mean that this shall be the most valuable Campaign Paper in the country. Address, THE SUN,
NEW YORK CITY.

TO THE TEACHERS AND FRIENDS OF EDUCATION IN ALLEGHENY COUNTY.—The undersigned would respectfully announce that in accordance with requirements of the Common School Law, an Institute will be held in the HALL OF THE FOURTH WARD PUBLIC SCHOOL, Pittsburgh, Pa., beginning on MONDAY, March 30th, at 10 o'clock A. M., and ending FRIDAY, April 3d, 1868.
That Teachers and Directors may be thoroughly acquainted with the law regulating the holding of County Institutes, we subjoin the Act of Assembly regulating them, from which it will be seen that all teachers of the Common Schools of the County are expected to attend:
"According to Act of Assembly, approved April 9th, 1867, a Teachers' Institute must be held in each county of the Commonwealth, and must continue in session at least five days, including half-a-day for going to and half-a-day for returning from the place of meeting; the names of all persons teaching in the Common Schools of the county must be called at least twice a day and absentees carefully marked; and those who absent themselves from the Institute of their county, without good reason, may have their want of professional spirit and zeal indicated by certificates of a lower grade at the next examination." [See Penna. School Journal, May, 1867, pp. 272.]
From the above it will be seen that the law permits Directors to grant Teachers the time to attend the Institute and count it the same as so much time spent in teaching; and so far as I have had an opportunity to present this matter to Directors, they have not only expressed a willingness to do so, but are anxious their teachers should attend. If teachers act wisely, they will not fail to attend this meeting.
A. T. DOUTHETT,
mh16:m57T County Superintendent.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 16, 1868.

Gold opened strong at 139¼, advanced to 139¾, declined to 139⅝, and closed steady at that. The demand for gold is still limited, and the rise is only engineered by the foreign exchange dealers who hold a large amount of commercial bills which they are anxious to sell at about 140.

The investment demand for bonds is very light; the sudden decline during last week has freightened the small investers, and to buy at an advance, has always cost them a six months' interest. The fact is that the large holders of bonds have mostly sold out and the middle classes are the holders of our national securities at present, and can ill afford to lose ½ or 1 per cent. by buying above the average market value.

Stocks are dull to-day and lower, with little disposition to buy. In Erie, North Western, Cleveland, and all the Western Railroad companies the decline has been from 4 to 7 per cent. The unfavorable bank statement, together with the general bearish feeling of the operators, has cast a gloom over all the leading dealers which almost amounts to a panic. Local stocks are very dull, and a national decline in some of the Railway bonds are noticeable. Bank stocks are dull and difficult to sell, except at a concession.

Columbia (oil) is offered at 10 to 11, and other stocks sell far below their actual value. Money market tight.

—The Boston money market has experienced a rapid change since our last, and even now may be said to be in an unsettled condition. Rates for call loads have advanced from 5 and 5½ to 6, firm, and at the last named quotation the demand exceeds the supply. Most of the dealers in governments have increased their lines of call money, and there is noticeable a speculative demand for short loans, from parties who believe in an early advance in the price of some of the securities in the market. Three and four months paper of the very best character is discounted at 6½@7, and there is a good deal offering at the close of this week. A few of our bands are still crowded with small national bills; but the stock of these notes is being fast reduced. New York funds are still very scarce, and have sold very frequently during the week at a shilling a thousand or more, premium.—Boston Post, 14th.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 16, 1868.

CRUDE—The market was quiet but firm to-day, and while there was but little done, holders are obstinate and refuse to make concessions in order to effect sales. We have but a single transaction to report, one thousand barrels for June at 9c. There is no spot oil in market; all the month may be quoted at 8 to 8¼c, and the last sale reported for April was at 8¼c, but we do not believe that it could be duplicated for less than 8½c. May may be quoted at 8¼ to 8¾c; June at 9c, and all the year, buyer's option, at 11 to 11½c. As noted last week, the fact that there is no margin in the business at present tends to retard operations, as dealers do not seem disposed to invest in an article which promises no return, and the handling of which is attended by so much risk.

REFINED—There was a firmer feeling manifested in the market for bonded oil to-day, and prices, especially for future deliveries, are a shade better. We can report sales of 1000 each for August, September, and October at 29c; 1000 and 500 each for same months, at 29c—making a total of 7500 bbls. All the month may be quoted at 24½c; April, 25c; May, 25½c, and a "line," running from May throughout the year, may be quoted at an advance of from one-half to three-quarters of a cent for each subsequent month—offers to buy at the inside, and offers to sell at the outside quotation. As has been the case for some time past, there is but little oil offering, and even a slight advance does not seem to be sufficient inducement to cause refiners to enter the market.

—Since the above was put in type, we have the following additional sales reported: 1000 for June at 9c; 1000 for July at 9½c; 1000 for August at 10c; 1000 for September at 10c; 1000 for June at 9¼c; 1000 for May at 9c, and 1000 for July at 9½c.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 16, 1868.

The general markets were moderately active to-day, there being a fair volume of business in the aggregate, although the transactions were mainly of a local and unimportant character. The arrivals, both by rail and river, appear to be increasing, and while the supply of almost everything seems to be fully up to the demand, there are no important changes in values.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is in limited supply and steady at $2,43 to $2,45 for Red, and $2,53 to $2,55 for White. Oats quiet but firm at 69c to 70c, on track, and 73c to 75c, in store. Corn is dull and neglected, but unchanged; may be quoted at 95c to $1, on track and wharf, and $1,05 to $1,10 in a retail way. Rye is scarce and firm with an upward tendency; may be quoted at $1,65 in first hands, and $1,70 to $1,75 in store. Barley is scarce and in demand at $2,00 to $2,10.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady at 11½@11¾c for Shoulders; 13½@15c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; 17@17½c for Sugar Cured Hams, and 16½c for Breakfast Bacon. Lard is unchanged; prime kettle rendered is quoted at 16c, in tierces, and 16½c, in kegs. Mess Pork, $25@25,50.

FLOUR—Is steady, with a fair local demand but unchanged. We continue to quote at $10,50@11,25 for Spring Wheat; $12@12,50 for Winter Wheat, and $14@15 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is firm at $8,25 per barrel, and Buckwheat is steady at $4,50 per cwt.

SEEDS—Cloverseed is quiet and unchanged at $8@8,25. Timothy Seed is dull at $2,75@3. Flaxseed is in active demand; sale of 100 bushels, on private terms.

BUTTER—Is coming in more freely, and the market is a shade easier, though, as yet, prices are unchanged—prime to choice Roll, 48@52c.

EGGS—Quoted at 24@25c.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches firm but unchanged; regular jobbing sales at 11½@11c. Apples steady at 7@8c.

HAY—The arrivals will, no doubt, be light for some days, as the roads are in very bad condition. We continue to quote at $18@24, as to quality.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged; regular sales of No. 2 at 98c@$1, and $1,28@$1,30 for No. 1.

GREEN APPLES—Steady but unchanged; sales at $3,50@5,50 per bbl, as to quality.

POTATOES—As noted last week, the demand is more active, but prices are unchanged; we continue to quote prime Peach Blows at $3,25 per bbl.

CRANBERRIES—Are being sold at from $15@17 per bbl.

BEANS—Scarce, and in fair demand, with sales at $4@4,50 per bush.

HOMINY—Is unchanged; regular sales at $6,25@6,50 per barrel—$6,75, in a retail way.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFIFCE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, March 14, 1868.

CATTLE.

There was a very light supply of Cattle on sale to-day, and with a fair retail demand, the market was a very stiff one, and nearly all the Cattle on sale had changed hands by eleven o'clock. Compared with last week, common to medium stock may be quoted from one-half to one cent per pound higher, while prime to extra fat Cattle have undergone but little change. There was also a very good demand for stock Cattle, and we can report sales at 5½c to 6¼c, as to quality and condition; bulls may be quoted higher, selling at from 5½c to 7c. There were several sales of show Cattle, at prices ranging from 9½c to 10c. Upon the whole, the market was sharp and quick, and holders had it pretty much all their own way, in consequence of the very limited supply, and the butchers always buy with less hesitation when the supply is light and the yards are rapidly being cleared, as was the case to-day; indeed, we believe that a much larger number could have been sold than was offered, as many of the butchers did not get all they wanted and we noticed some of them lounging round after the pens were pretty well cleared. The following are the sales:

Stakely & Bro. had 23 head on sale; sold one pair of six-year old oxen to Greenwald & Kahn at 8¼c, and the balance, consisting of cows and heifers, were sold at from 4½ to 6½.

Myers & Needy sold 30 head of good Chicago cattle at 8½ to 9; 30 head of Ohio stock at 7¾ to 8½; 4 head Licking county Ohio, oxen at 10; one extra cow to L. Shamberg at 9½, and 20 head of stockers at 6¾.

E. H. Davis wholesaled 30 head of pretty good Ohio steers to Myers & Needy at 7½.

Glass, Lafferty & Co. retailed 13 head of mixed stock at 7¼ to 8½.

L. Keefer retailed 15 head of Penna cows heifers and bulls at 5 to 7½.

Marks & Trautman report having sold about 100 head of Ohio and Illinois cattle at 7½ to 9 for good to extra, and 5½ for small stockers.

Hazlewood & Blackstock sold 6 head to Hasson at 6¼ to 8¼; 10 head for E. H. Davis at 6 to 7, and 14 head for Graham & Munroe at 6½ to 8¼.

John Kerwin reports having bought 1 head of bulls at 5 to 6½. John is now regarded as being the best bull buyer in market, as he is an excellent judge of this class of stock.

E. Katz sold 21 head of inferior to common Ohio stock for Roenbaugh at 4½ to 6.

L. Rothchilds sold 27 head of Chicago cattle at 7,30 to 8.

Kraus & Haas report having sold 41 head of Chicago cattle at 7 to 9.

Greenwald & Kahn sold 45 head of Chicago stock at 8½ to 9½.

Beeler sold one pair of prime Penna oxen to Stakely & Bro. at 8,45.

Our old friend Carr had no cattle to-day and the same was true of Jas. McAllister, Hedges & Taylor, Hartman & Shamberg, M. Verner, and Smith & Talmage.

SHEEP.

There was quite an active demand for Sheep to-day, and with only a moderate supply, the market was a remarkably stiff one, and compared with last week, prices have still further advanced. Beside the butchers, there was some inquiry for shipment, and as a consequence, holders experienced no difficulty in selling, and that too, at the advance above noted. The following sales were reported:

Auff & Myers sold 61 head of prime fat sheep to Tesh & Bro. at 7¾; and 20 head to Richardson at 7.

Sargeant wholesaled 50 head of good Ohio Sheep, averaging 90 lbs, to Myers & Needy at 6¾.

E. Katz wholesaled for Roenbaugh to Myers & Needy 43 head at 6,40.

Stakely & Bro. had 67 head of Pennsylvania Sheep on sale—we did not get the prices.

Rinn & McAllister wholesaled 121 head to Myers & Needy, averaging 86 lbs, at 6¾, and retailed 118 head at 5 to 7.

HOGS.

The marke for this class of stock is firm but quiet, and the exorbitant prices now prevailing, is having its effect in diminishing very much the demand for fresh pork. We now quote in a retail way at 9c to 9½ gross, as to quality and condition.

Myers & Needy report having retailed 8 head at 8,50 to 10.

Emerick & Co. report having sold about 200 head at 9 to 11.

Rothchils & Myers report having sold 9 head at 9 to 11½.

Chicago Cattle Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—Beef Cattle quiet at $8,12½a8,25. Hogs quiet; sales at $9,2 9,50 for fair to good.

AGRICULTURAL.

Improved Breeding Stock.

To the Editors of National Agriculturist and Pennsylvania Farm Journal:

GENTLEMEN: We notice in your February number that your correspondent interrogates us as follows, viz:

"We would like to ask Messrs. Glenn & Brother why they recommend the importation of foreign stock for breeders, duty free, as advocated by them in the Turf, Field and Farm, of February 20th, 1868. Have we not as good sheep and other stock as in the world?"

Lawrence county, Pa. M.

The questions though short embrace a great deal. We would much have preferred that they had been propounded to others eminently better competent to answer than ourselves. But being so publicly questioned, and in consequence of a contribution to a highly respectable and invaluable breeders or stock journal, &c., we reply lengthily and in such a way as we hope will elicit much valuable information from many breeders of all kinds of stock. The reader will please premise that we would prefer to answer the second question in the affirmative, which would most fully dispose of the first.

Inasmuch as the American wool growers have more to contend with than all other breeders of useful animals, we will confine our answer to sheep or sheep husbandry principally.

It is very desirable that American agriculturists (or wool growers,) shall produce for the American wool manufacturers every description of wool that they require for the manufacturing of woolen material of all kinds to clothe the Americans. In so doing they will certainly contribute their share towards making our country in fact, not only in name, independent.

Importers of foreign wool and woolens, and their allies, are watching the American wool growers with intense interest. In fact, all free trades appear to have combined to effect a repeal of the very small protection afforded now to the American wool grower, and their repeated argument, again and again repeated, that American wool growers do not produce a sufficient variety of wool to enable our wool manufacturers to manufacture all the different varieties of woolen goods required by Americans, and that wool can be produced cheaper elsewhere—we think very plainly, intimating that they think American wool growers should not aspire to grow wool to clothe Americans, but content themselves in "being hewers of wood and drawers of water" to the foreign wool grower and their free trade allies sojourning in our country. The following extract from the New York Economist, of February 22, 1868, we think good, authentic free trade authority:

There is a very peculiar state of things at the present time—cotton is advancing, the market for cottons of every description active, but it has no effect on woolens. Hitherto it has always been the case that whenever activity commenced in one business the other would sympathize with it to some extent, but for a number of weeks we have had a very active trade in cottons; prices have advanced, and cotton factories are running full time, and some even more than that; but woolens are as dull as ever, and instead of woolen mills either increasing their hours of running, or the amount of machinery, they are curtailing their production more and more.

"And for improvement in the woolen trade we must look to the same source from which we obtain anything like real improvement in the cotton market. Cotton trade is good in England. English capitalists expect a short crop of cotton in 1868, and consequently are free purchasers. Cotton and cotton goods, six weeks ago, were down to a low point, and consumers not only here, but all over the world, became free purchasers, and business is active. Not so, however, with wool and woolens. There is no fear but the world will produce a large amount of wool, sufficient for every want, notwithstanding that our farmers have slaughtered so many sheep, and flooded the Eastern markets with the largest amount of pulled wool which ever came upon it; and that, too, of the present growth. If they had wanted to kill their sheep why not wait a few months, and then the pelts might have sold for something; but we suppose they thought it would cost too much to keep their sheep through winter. But the slaughtering of sheep has not alarmed any one. Our own manufacturers do not notice it; and the English manufacturers look upon it as a good joke; and the Australian farmer will say that, should the United States cease altogether to be a wool growing country, they, in a very few years, would supply the deficiency. In 1860, Australia sent to England 59,166,000 lbs; in 1865, 199,734,000 lbs. At this rate of increase we may look for over 200,000,000 lbs in 1870, while South America, in 1860, furnished 8,959,909 lbs; yet that amount, in 1865, was increased to 17,867,000 lbs. At the same rate of increase we may look for over 30,000,000 lbs from this quarter, with a proportionate increase from the Cape of Good Hope, and from this section the wool is increasing in quality as fast as in quantity; while Australia produces the finest and best grown wool in the world, Germany not excepted, for she has nearly driven the German wool out of the English Market, for, in 1830, when Aurtralia only furnished England with 1,967,279 lbs, Germany supplied her with 26,073,892 lbs. This amount, in 1865, had dwindled down to 6,858,000 lbs.

"From the facts already presented we have seen that America cannot make her own price for any material or product which is of world wide growth, let her tariff be what it may, but must be subject to all the powers that be, whether here or elsewhere, and it is only a question of two or three years whether this country furnishes the wool for our manufacturers, or Australia, South America, or the Cape of Good Hope. And we must wait for an advance in goods and in wool in Europe before we shall have any advance here."

How do yon like these enunciations, teachings or expressions, American wool growers? There is no respectable government under heaven that has so steadily and so long neglected their national agricultural interest as has the government of the United States. Hence, American wool growers have to compete with all wool growers of the universe for his own market, against all the known qualities of wool, from the very finest to the coarsest wool hair grown anywhere. This being undeniably so, is it to be supposed that we have all the different varieties of wool growing sheep in their greatest purity and desirableness—most certainly there is every inducement virtually held out by our government to foreigners to improve their sheep, introduce and send to our almost open market all varieties of wool.

American wool growers are at least entitled to the same fostering care and protection that similar, or less enterprise, industry and perseverance has or would have commanded and received in agricultural and other industrial pursuits, in and by any and all other government under heaven.

But American agricultural and other industrial pursuits are neglected by our government.

These being the facts in the case the question very naturally presents itself. Are not the agriculturalists of our country themselves alone to blame—having a larger invested capital and many more voters than all other inhabitants or interests combined? Why not now see to it before the Presidential platform of either party be adopted, that the greatest and most important of all interests, agriculturists be assured that in the future their interest shall be protected from longer competition for the preference of their own (American) market against the whole world.

Is it not to the interest of the American wool grower to have the privilege of importing any and all varieties, or families of sheep, free from governmental charges for breeding purposes? If better varieties are to be found of any kind of sheep than we have, it is the cheapest and quickest and best way of improving our stock by importing or transporting such to our country, and thus be enabled to produce every required variety of wool upon our soil. Having and breeding the very best different varieties of sheep and wool will vastly contribute to the greatest prosperity of our common country, North and South, East and West, and insure the continuation of our present woolen manufactories, and induce the erection of other mills for different manufactures of woolens, and some not now largely, if at all manufactured in the country.

The varied climate of the United States, and the change of the labor system in the Southern States, favors and urgently invites the importation of all improved varieties of sheep from Northern States, and every climate under heaven.

We observe, John H. Klippart, Esq., Secretary of the Ohio State Board of Agriculture, in his valuable and elaborate report of his agricultural tour in Europe in 1865. We hope Mr. K. will publish this report with additional matter in book form for the advantage of all American agriculturalists. This report is more complete on the subject it treats than any other we have read since the report of Charles L. Fleischman, Esq., in the (agricultural) Annual Report of the Commissioner of Patents for 1847. Mr. Klippart says: "Taken as a whole the sheep on exhibition at Stettin were superior to the same number of sheep on exhibition at one of our State Fairs—although we have individual animals as good as any I saw at Stettin, but the best sheep were not there. I afterward saw much better ones in some of the German States. Sheep breeding and wool growing is more reduced to a science, or rather a trade, if I may call it, in Germany, than anywhere else in the world.

There cannot be the slightest doubt that if (American) breeders would follow a reasonable and useful proceeding, they will in a short time produce far better sheep than those on the Continent (of Europe,) because experiments already made, go to prove that the food and climate of the United States are far preferable for Merino breeding, notwithstanding they may still require imported material as long as there is not produced a certain uniformity in wool and frame, united with a reliable hereditary transmission of qualities which can be obtained only by continuing the same principal for years. Until such a state is universal, breeders will always have far more benefit from importing good stocks than from amalgamating inferior materials. Sheep breeders must endeavor to obtain a perfect knowledge of those qualities which render the wool valuable for manufacturing purposes. Exhibitions of clean washed fleeces, as well as in greese, such as that made by Geo. W. Pollock, at the Ohio State Fair in 1864, would be of great benefit in promoting that result."

A great want, not only in the South but in the North, is a present knowledge of sheep husbandry in our Southern States. Many Northern men engaged in sheep husbandry, thinking of emigrating, wish to know how the different breeds of sheep succeed in the South, and which does the best for wool growing—which family for mutton and wool combined, &c., &c. The book, "Sheep Husbandry in the South," by Hon. H. S. Randall, very valuable up to 1861, cannot now be so valuable as to numbers, and of the history and value and kind of the present flocks in the South. Can not Mark R. Cockrill, Esq., of Stock Place, Tennessee, supply the very desirable information himself in book form, or otherwise, as he thinks best, or have it properly furnished. No business or calling is more fully calculated to create a sympathy for each other, or to cultivate a brotherly intimacy, than sheep husbandry. Surely shepherds are brethren and have a direct interest in the prosperity of each other, being engaged in cultivating different varieties of sheep surely contributes to the greatest good of the greatest numbers of our countrymen. Every true American, be he agriculturist or otherwise, we think, cannot but rejoice at the recommendation of our worthy Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture as recommended to Congress, (and published in your February number) and desire that the privilege be allowed to every American citizen to import of all the different best varieties of mutton, coarse-combing, deline, and fine wooled sheep, and all other improved animals and birds for breeding purposes free of government tariff or hindrances.

If better breeds or breeding animals are to be found elsewhere than in the United States, we cannot afford to be without them, and importers of such ought not have to pay governmental charges to benefit the greater number of the American people.

CONSTABLE CONVICTED.

George Fuchs, late constable of Duquesne borough, was indicted, on oath of Henry Aufterhide, for larceny by bailee and misdemeanor in office. The count charging larceny by bailee was quashed, on the ground that under act of Assembly an agent in trust could not be held liable for that offense. The prosecutor, it appears, obtained judgment against a party for fifteen dollars, Fuchs, as constable, collecting the money on an execution and neglecting to pay it over. The jury convicted, and defendant was sentenced to pay a fine of thirty dollars and the costs, to restore the amount of judgment with interest, and to be disqualified from holding the office of constable for seven years.

HOSIERY AND A GOOSE.

William White and Charles Fury, aged about fifteen years, were arraigned on a charge of stealing eleven pairs of socks, the property of Mr. Mitchell, shopkeeper on Fifth street, opposite the Court House. The socks were taken from the store door, on the 25th of January last, and nine of the eleven pairs were subsequently sold for one dollar. The jury found a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to the mercy of the Court. A motion for a new trial was made in the case of White.

Charles Fury, Wm. White and John Roane (the two former named boys being defendants in the preceding case), were put on trial for the larceny of one dozen pairs of Balmoral socks and two neck comforts, the property of Mr. Burkhardt, of Wylie street. There was no evidence to connect either White or Fury with the larceny. The jury found a verdict of not guilty, without leaving the box.

The defendants, last named, were charged with the larceny of a dressed goose from the store of Mr. Moffitt, corner of Third and Grant streets. The Prosecuting Attorney did not press a conviction and the jury found a formal verdict of not guilty. Roane was then discharged by proclamation, there being no other charges pending against him.

MEAT LARCENY.

Margaret Stafford was arraigned for the larceny of a piece of beef and a piece of pork, valued at about one dollar, the property of Henry Hershenroether.

The jury had not agreed upon a verdict when the hour of adjournment arrived.

"WIDOW M'NUTT."

Mrs. Spencer alias McNutt, noted in police circles, was arraigned for the larceny of nine yards of carpet, the property of Mrs. Clemens, residing on Market street, between Third and Fourth street. The accused made no defense. Jury out.

Captain Charlton—Resolutions of Respect.

At a meeting of the surviving comrades in arms of the late Captain Wm. A. Charlton, held in the office of United States Marshall General T. A. Rowley, last evening, General J. Bowman Sweitzer presided, and Sergeant R. H. Kelly acted as Secretary. The Chairman stated the object of the meeting in a few brief and appropriate remarks, when on motion a Committee, consisting of General T. A. Rowley, Captain Wm. Kennedy, Adjutant A. P. Callow and Private F. H. Coolly were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the feelings of the meeting on the death of their late brother in arms. Following is the report of the Committee:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His allwise providence to call from our midst our comrade in arms, in two wars, Captain William A. Charlton, who served in the conflict with Mexico and in the late rebellion; therefore

Resolved, That in the death of Captain Charlton we, his fellow-soldiers, have to mourn the demise of a gallant soldier and a most estimable citizen.

Resolved, That we bear willing testimony to the undaunted bravery and ample fitness of our late brother in arms, and will ever remember his soldierly qualities and kindness to his command with feelings of deepest regret.

Resolved, That we tender to his family our heartfelt sympathies in this the hour of their sad bereavement, and trust that He who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb may ever have them under his care and protection.

Resolved, That we will attend the funeral of our deceased brother in a body from his residence, on Chartiers street, Sixth ward, Allegheny, at half-past one o'clock to-day (Tuesday).

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased and also published in the city papers.

Annual Session.—The annual session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the M. E. Church, will commence at Greensburg this morning. Bishop Kingsley will preside. Quite a number of ministers arrived in the city yesterday en route for Greensburg. The citizens of Greensburg, of all denominations, have made ample arrangements to entertain the members of the convention in handsome style. We have made arrangements for a full report.

Escaped Burglars Arrested.

In December last the variety and jewelry store of Mr. Henry Hooker, at Flemington, Huntingdon county, New Jersey, was burglariously entered by one Samuel McDowell, alias Peacock, alias Smith, Charley Collins, alias Stevens, alias Fox, and Mat. Watters, a boy about fifteen years of age, and robbed of goods to the amount of three thousand dollars. The burglars then ascended the stairs to Mr. Hooker's room, and showed a purpose of raising a row. They kindly advised him to keep still, and he did so until they had departed, taking between three and four hundred dollars in greenbacks. Then he got up, had the church bell rang, and in a little while a large party was in pursuit of the fugitives. They had captured a horse and sleigh, but the horse proved "no good," Peacock says, and they abandoned it. All efforts at escape proved useless, and the party and all their booty were captured. They were committed to the Flemington jail for trial, Peacock and Collins having their feet hobbled. In February they planned and effected an escape. They cut a hole through the brick ceiling of their cell, sawed their way through a three inch pine floor above, got out upon the the roof, and on the 14th of the month "skipped." They speedily cut their hobbles, stole a horse and sleigh, and, after a day or two reached Easton on foot, having "put up" their equipage in somebody's stable on the road. They were traced to Easton, and Collins promptly recaptured and taken back. Peacock, however, got away and went to Chicago. He said he didn't like the place, and made no effort to get acquainted with the fraternity there. He started East, got out of money, wrote a letter and was captured in this city yesterday morning. It appears that he wrote a letter to a friend in Easton, Pa., asking for money, and stating that he would be in this city on Saturday. The letter was shown to Jacob Johnson, detective, at Easton, who arrived in the city Saturday, and after a consultation with Chief of Police Green, the following plan was adopted: The first step taken by the officer was to show a photograph of the desired man to the Postoffice clerk, with the explanation that that man was wanted. Throughout all of Saturday and Sunday an officer of the Mayor's police was stationed at the Postoffice, but still the coming man came not. Yesterday morning the expected face appeared at the window and a letter for Sam. Smith was asked for. The officer was signalled, the inquirer arrested and identified as the right man, and the officer and prisoner left yesterday evening for Easton, Pa.

Peacock was arrested in Philadelphia some years ago, and his picture added to the Rogues' Gallery, a copy of which has been in the Chief's office in this city for over five years.

Daring Burglary.

Notwithstanding the vigilance and efficiency of our present police force, the knights of the "jimmys" and false keys have resumed operations in this city. A most daring and, it appears, successful burglary was committed yesterday morning at the dwelling of Isaac Fagley, steward at the Rush House. Mr. Fagley and his family occupy a small house on Scott alley, in the Fourth ward, in rear of Trimble's Varieties Theatre, which, between three and four o'clock yesterday morning, was entered by burglars and robbed of valuables and money to the amount of two or three hundred dollars. The room from which the money—between $50 and $60—was taken was on the second floor, and occupied by three girls, daughters of Mr. Fagley, and his nephew, who was sleeping on a sofa. About four o'clock one of the girls called to her cousin and said there was some person in the room. The young man jumped up and turned on the gas, but the burglar had departed, not, however, without leaving unmistakable marks of his visit. The trunk which had contained the money was standing open, and the contents strewed around promiscuously. The young man's vest, which contained a valuable watch and a small amount of money, was gone, while a further search demonstrated the fact that a number of photographs, pictures and toys had also disappeared. This was not the only scene of depredation. A bed room on the first floor, occupied by two of Mr. F.'s sons, had been visited and a fine gold watch and chain, the property of one of the sons taken, also two fine engravings of Washington and Lincoln, valued at ten dollars. The vest of the nephew, who occupied the room upstairs, was found in the hall at the foot of the stairway, the pockets having been rifled of their contents. An entrance was effected through a door in the rear of the building by boring a hole through it near the bolt, which had been pushed back by means of a piece of wire shaped for the purpose. No clue as to the guilty party has been obtained.

A Young Thief Caught.

Saturday afternoon Joseph Goldberg, a boy between nine and ten years of age, and a companion about the same age, tried their hands at larceny, and for the time being with tolerably good success, as they managed to get between five and ten dollars; but their enterprize did not terminate so favorably as it began, as they were brought to grief yesterday morning.

The scene of their depredations was a market stand in the Diamond, kept by J. Ragan. Mr. R. having some business to attend to left his stand in charge of his little daughter, and while she was engaged with a customer Goldberg put his hand into a peck measure, which was used for a cash box, took out between five and ten dollars and made off. The little girl observed the movement, but could not leave the stand, and as no one was near to arrest the thief, he succeeded in making his escape. It appears that after getting away a short distance the money was divided between the young rascals, and before the arrest yesterday morning had all been squandered. Monday morning the companion of young Goldberg went into Mr. Ragan's establishment to sell some old papers, and was at once recognized by the little girl as one of the boys who had committed the theft on Saturday. She informed her father and he at once took charge of the boy, who stoutly denied the robbery, but said he was with the boy that took it, and that he only got one dollar of it, and offered to show Mr. R. the guilty boy. He was taken to Alderman Humbert's office, and gave officer Hagan a description of the guilty boy, and in a few moments he was forthcoming. Mr. Ragan refused to prosecute them, and on payment of five dollars by the friends of the young rascals they were discharged.

Surety of the Peace.

Matthew McMahan and Mary McMahan alias McDonough have for a number of years been living together as man and wife, and in all probability are such, but it appears that "Madame Rumor," who is a meddlesome old crone, and attends to every body's business and neglects her own, said to Patrick Vaughn that they were not married, and Patrick very naturally repeated this little bit of scandal, which, coming to the ears of the McMahans, greatly enraged them and they swore to have vengeance on Patrick. Saturday night, as Patrick was retiring to his lodgings on Virgin alley, he alleges that the M'Mahans followed him home and threatened to kill him for the vile slander he had uttered against their hitherto fair names. Patrick having no desire to depart this life in a summary manner, and fearing the offended parties would carry their terrible threat into execution, repaired to the office of Alderman McMasters in order to stay proceedings. Information was made against the belligerents for surety of the peace and a warrant was issued for their arrest. Patrick, in the future, should be careful how he repeats slanderous reports put in circulation by the busy old creature we have referred to, lest he might be called to a final account before he is ready.

Free Again.

Several days since we published an account of the arrest, by direction Butler county authorities, of William Green and Christian Heineman, immediately upon their release from the Penitentiary, where they had served a term of two years, having been tried and convicted of larceny of sheep. After the arrest they were removed to the jail at New Castle, as the jail at Butler is being rebuilt. At the time of their arrest they asserted that they knew of no other charge pending against them, but subsequent inquiry by their counsel, R. S. Morrison, Esq., established the fact that they were indicted for the larceny of the same sheep which they were convicted of stealing in the Allegheny county Court, and for which they had been imprisoned for two years. On Thursday last Mr. Morrison presented a copy of the record and proceeded to Butler, where he made application for a writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of having the parties released. The writ was granted and on Friday last a hearing was had in the case, when Mr. Morrison made a statement of the facts. The Court ordered the prisoners to be discharged, and they returned to their homes in Allegheny on Saturday.

Railroad Accident.

An accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad, Monday morning, which came near proving disastrous. We have the following particulars: A land slide occurred about a half mile west of Packsaddle, by which an immense mass of rock and earth was thrown upon the track. The Day Express, which left this city at ten minutes past three o'clock, Monday morning, reached that point at fifteen minutes past five, and the engineer not observing the obstruction in time to check the train, the locomotive came in collision with the rock. The engine was quite badly wrecked by the collision, and the express and mail car were thrown from the track and more or less injured. Fortunately, however, no person on the train was injured, and the passenger coaches, the sleeping car and the baggage car escaped damage, while the injuries to the locomotive and the express cars might have been much more serious. The train was delayed three hours and twenty minutes. None of the trains west were delayed at all.

A Step in the Right Direction.

For some time past a number of negroes have been in the habit of loafing around the door of the African church, at Boyle and Hancock streets, to the great annoyance of all who reside in the vicinity, and complaints having been made to Mayor Drum, he decided to break up the practice. Sunday evening a squad of the police were dispatched to the Church with instructions to arrest all loafers found there. They succeeded in capturing twelve offenders, who were taken to the lock-up and kept until yesterday morning, when, after a hearing, they were required to pay a fine of three dollars each and costs. A few wholesome rebukes of this kind will soon abolish the disgraceful practice.

Street Commissioner McFadden

Has been endeavoring to ameliorate the nuisance on Second street, in the vicinity of the Monongahela bridge. During the frosty weather, some weeks since, considerable excavation was made in the hillside, preparatory to paving Second street, and the earth appropriated to filling up to grade that part of the street beyond the bridge. The recent soft weather has rendered that part of the street, in consequence of this filling, almost impassable, causing great trouble and delay to parties hauling in that direction. Yesterday loaded teams could not pass without "stalling," and the Street Commissioner was powerless to afford any remedy. We suggest to him to "corduroy," after the army style.

Among the Divorce Cases heard in the Circuit Court at St. Louis last week was one wherein Mary E. Scahill was the petitioner, representing, in her petition, that she was married to the respondent, Wm. M. Scahill, in the year 1860, in this city, where she continued to reside with him as his wife until 1867, when, as she had reason to believe, he left the United States in company with another woman. She also stated that her husband seemed to take especial delight in striking and beating her, and that he used every means, through false statements, to injure her reputation amongst a large circle of friends and acquaintances, and, during the period he remained at home, he had destroyed every article of furniture. Further, that defendant was guilty of such conduct in St. Louis as to cause his arrest on the charge of vagrancy, and had been convicted before the Police Court, wherefore plaintiff asked that she might be decreed a divorce, and restored to her maiden name, Mary E. Batz, which the Court granted.

Seasonable.—Mr. Henry G. Hale, the noted draper and tailor at the corner of Penn and St. Clair streets, one of the most spacious and fashionable establishments of this kind in the city, has just returned from the East, having largely replenished his stock of goods suitable to the season, including new styles and varied textures and tints of materials for coats, pants and vests, together with a complete supply of the most approved trimmings and gentlemen's furnishing goods. Mr. Hale's numerous patrons will be glad to know that Monsieur D. Bompain, from Paris, so long a favorite with them, continues to preside at his cutting tables.

A Hot Bath.—Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Keenan, of Manchester, got into a quarrel yesterday morning, and Mr. Nichols, who was standing near them, interfered to stop the row, when Mrs. Keenan ran into her house, seized a kettle of boiling water and threw it on Mr. N. and a child, scalding both of them severely. Mr. Nichols made information before Mayor Drum, charging her with assault and battery. She was arrested, but the matter was compromised.

Temperance Meeting.—The third of the series of lectures before the Allegheny Temperance League will be delivered this evening, in the East Common Methodist Church, by the Rev. V. Lucas. The lecture will treat specially of the duty of voters with reference to the Temperance question. The exercises will be enlivened with good music.

A Skirt for the Million.

Perhaps no article of ladies' apparel is more widely worn or justly enjoys higher reputation than the famous "Bradley Duplex Skirt." The immensity of their sale can hardly be imagined, as each city, town and village in the country contains its supply. The skirts are used in preference to all others because of their graceful shape, beautiful style and durability. They last in wear nearly three times as long as others in use, having double springs and made of the best quality of materials. They are sold by nearly all of our leading merchants and when once tried they are never discarded by purchasers. The West, Bradley & Cary manufacturing company having purchased the business and interest of the late firm of West, Bradley & Cary, and having made great improvements in the machinery and labor for the manufacture of the celebrated skirts, they are now enabled to manufacture and sell them at greatly reduced prices. Their object is to place these skirts in the market at such prices as to make it an object for the million. The prices have been materially reduced, thus making the Bradley Duplex the cheapest as well as the best in the market. The company have also an extensive variety of new and beautiful designs of the patented "metalic ends" suspenders, of their own manufacture, equal in style and quality to the best French suspenders, and at much lower prices. Attention is directed to the column advertisement on our Fifth page of to-day's paper. The office and warehouse of the company are at Nos. 97 Chambers and 97 and 81 Reade street, New York.

Serious Accident.—A driver of an express wagon, whose name we were unable to learn, was seriously injured about five o'clock yesterday evening, by falling from his wagon on St. Clair street, between Penn street and the river. He, it appears, had stopped his wagon for the purpose of delivering a package, and was standing up in the rear end of it, when the horse started suddenly, throwing him out backwards, his head coming in contact with the curb stone. He was picked up insensible and removed to his residence, where medical aid was rendered him.

Forgiving.—Anna Maria Ziegler made information before Alderman Strain, yesterday, charging John Walls with assault and battery. She alleges that he met her on the street, and without any provocation struck her with his fist and knocked her down. The parties occupy quarters jointly on a "floating palace," at the foot of O'Hara street, in the Allegheny river. Being possessed of a forgiving spirit, Maria relented after a short time, when she returned to the Alderman's office, paid the costs and withdrew the information.

False Pretence.—John Best, of the firm of Best & Robinson, glass manufacturers, made information before Alderman Strain, yesterday, charging Thomas Mulhall with obtaining money under false pretence. He alleges that the accused had been engaged by the firm to do a piece of work for twenty dollars, and that he went to the clerk's office, and by representing that the work was done, obtained the money. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Our readers will be pleased to learn that the celebrated lecturer, John B. Assault and Surety of the Peace.—Frederick Luther made information, yesterday, before Alderman Strain, against Thomas McCormick for assault and surety of the peace. The parties reside at Woods Run. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant threw a brick at him and threatened to kill him. A warrant was issued.

He was wounded in the army in 1862, by a musket ball, which shattered the bone of his leg The operation was performed by Dr. Sutton, assisted by several other gentlemen of the profession.
